Daring American Rescue Raid In Luzon Area Frees Allied Prisoners

GARRISON AT JAP PRISON WIPED OUT

By LEE VAN ATTA
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

GEN. DOUGLAS MacARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Luzon, Feb. 1.—Daring American and Filipino commandos in a thrilling sortie 25 miles into Japanese lines in eastern Luzon "surprised and annihilated" the garrison of an enemy prison camp, rescuing 510 Allied veterans of Bataan, Corregidor and Singapore in a mission described officially today as "brilliantly successful."

Gen. Douglas MacArthur, whose U. S. sixth and eighth armies drove forward north of historic Bataan to within 25 miles of a junction with each other, told the news in a special communiqué. It came hours after the regular announcement revealed the capture of the Olongapo naval base and advances up to 13 miles to within 28 miles of Manila itself.

PA NEWC Observes

Nineteen hundred and forty four drivers' licenses are no longer valid. All motor operators are required to have a 1945 driver's license today. Auto registration plates now being used will be illegal after March 31.

Pa Newc is informed on reliable authority that some folks, residing in Neshamock township, have been using snow shoes for some time now to get into their property, which is cut off by the main road. Lots of other folks cannot get their cars into their property and have to park out on the main roads.

Tomorrow is "groundhog day," and there is little basis for any result except that the weather prognosticator will streak it back for hibernation for another six weeks, if he is able to emerge from his winter quarters at all. There seems to be considerable doubt that the groundhog would be able to get out of his winter abode, even if he had the inclination.

Pa Newc is at a loss to find explanation for the conduct of some bus riders. When regularly, some passenger on a bus headed north, during the busiest travel hours of the day, will remain seated in the bus at Washington street while the bus packs to the limit with north hill passengers, and then when the bus goes one block north to North street, will fight their way through the crowd to get off at that street. It would only be a matter of walking a short block and avoiding a lot of inconvenience, as well as saving time for the bus riders enroute home, to get off at Washington street.

Snow has piled so high in the county that rabbits and other small game are eating the bark off trees several feet from the ground in their frenzied efforts to secure food. Pa Newc is told.

Rescue Of Yanks From Jap Prison Spurs Luzon Drive

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 1.—(INS)—The American Rangers and Filipino guerrillas who freed "approximately" 510 Allied prisoners of war from a Jap camp near Cabu in eastern Luzon, spent five days inching their way across the 25 miles of enemy held territory which they had to cover to reach their objective, George Thomas Folster, NBC correspondent, said today in a broadcast from Luzon.

Folster reported that the raiders used knives to finish off the guards around the camp which was built by Americans before Pearl Harbor, and then moved down Japs lined up inside the prison yard with Banzookas.

The liberation of the prisoners was accomplished Tuesday according to Folster who reported that the veterans of Bataan, Corregidor and Singapore thought the Japs had begun shooting up the camp preparatory to abandoning it when the commando raid began.

Record Raid By U. S. Planes Near Vienna

Yank Airmen Based In Italy Break All Records In Latest Attack

ROME, Feb. 1.—(INS)—Headquarters of the U. S. 15th Air Force revealed today that Yank airmen broke all records for the Italian campaign in their smashing attack against Moosierbaum yesterday when they unloaded 1,357 tons of bombs on Nazi oil installations in the area northwest of Vienna.

The total tonnage on the target, a headquarters spokesman said, exceeded any of the great attacks made against the Germans at Cassino or Bologna.

Italy-based Allied bombers also were revealed by headquarters to have returned to the Vienna area with an umbrella of fighters to blast oil installations in the outskirts and to blast rail marshalling yards at Graz and Maribor.

Medium bombers continued their assaults on targets on the Brenner rail route, while light bombers hit Po Valley rail targets and strafed rolling stock in northern Italy.

Fighters and fighter-bombers also hit northern Italian communications and enemy supply and ammunition dumps, power stations, gun positions and fortified buildings behind enemy lines.

Fighters strafed rolling stock in the areas of Wiener Neustadt and Villach in Austria.

Rescued Medical Officer Tells Of Experiences Of Three Years In War Prison

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 1.—(INS)—Blue Network Correspondent Arthur Feldman said today in a broadcast from Luzon that Lieut. Comdr. H. A. Erickson of Los Angeles, who was senior medical officer at the Cavite naval base when the Japs attacked the Philippines in December 1941, was among those rescued at Cabu prison camp near Cabanatuan in eastern Luzon.

Feldman quoted Erickson as saying conditions in the Manila prison camp were very bad. Erickson said, according to Feldman that he dressed wounds with old rags and the men were fed on spoiled fish and rice. The naval officer wore his faded uniform when rescued and already had his belongings packed when the Rangers and Filipinos broke into the enclosure, and said he had premonition that freedom was near, according to Feldman.

Would Have Fixed Him
Feldman also reported that Commander Erickson examined Saburo Kurosu, when the Japanese peace envoy stopped at Cavite en route to Washington before Pearl Harbor. In a routine health examination the Navy doctor found fresh vaccination marks on the envoy's arm.

According to Feldman, Erickson said "If I knew then what I know (Continued On Page Two)

French Troops Remove German Threat To Strasbourg From Northern Area

NAZIS SEEKING TO HOLD DEFENSE LINE

(BULLETIN)

PARIS, Feb. 1.—(INS)—U. S. First and Third army forces, crashing onto the German Siegfried line between Malmédy and St. Vith, scored advances today raging from 1,000 yards to two and one-half miles.

Already battering against the Siegfried outer defenses, the French First army was nibbling at Colmar, where elements of two German divisions stood ready to defend the town. French troops reached Harbourg, a suburb of Colmar east of the Ill river, cutting the Colmar-Breisach road.

PARIS, Feb. 1.—German threats to Strasbourg from points north of the Rhine-land city were neutralized today by the French First army, while American First and Third armies farther north drove deeper into the outer defenses of the Siegfried line.

Recapture of the towns of Gamsheim and Bettenhofen by American-supported French troops smashed the German menace to Strasbourg from above the city.

South of Strasbourg, in the Colmar area, the French continued to smash eastward from Erstein and Benfeld. French and American units crossed the Ill river to reach the (Continued On Page Sixteen)

Singapore Is Again Bombed

B-29 Bombers In Attack Upon Japan's Great Stolen Naval Base

By WILLIAM E. ZIMMERMAN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—Japan's great stolen naval base at Singapore was brought under attack again today by a powerful fleet of B-29 Superfortress bombers.

The latest and third major air assault by B-29's on the Singapore area, located on the tip of the Malaya peninsula stretching out into the South China sea, was carried out in daylight by Superfortresses based in India.

Radio Tokyo, the FCC said, reported that between 9 p. m. last night and 1:30 a. m. today three B-29's carried out separate bombing attacks on the Jap home islands of Shikoku and Honshu. It was claimed "there was absolutely no damage."

Preliminary Report
A brief preliminary communiqué from 20th air force headquarters in Washington said:

"Twentieth air force Superfortresses bombed Japanese military installations in the Singapore area today (February 1, Indian calendar). The mission was a daylight attack by B-29's from Brig. Gen. Roger M. Ramsey's 20th bomber command based in India. Details will be announced when operational reports are received in Washington."

The huge American bombing planes attacked Singapore earlier this month and once before last November.

According to the Tokyo radio, today's raid followed attacks by single B-29's based in the Marianas on the Osaka region of the Japanese home island of Honshu Wednesday morning and Tuesday night.

A third Superfort was said to have made a reconnaissance flight over the Osaka and Wakayama areas Wednesday.

Nazis Are Using Human Torpedoes

RESCUE BY AIR FROM WITHIN THE NAZI LINES

It's engines still running while hurried goodbyes are said, a rescue plane—one of several engaged in the operation—waits on a rendezvous field within the German lines in Yugoslavia to take off with American fliers who had crashed in enemy territory where they were hidden by Yugoslav guerrillas until their buddies could fly in and get them. A dangerous undertaking for all who took part, the evacuation had to be exactly timed. After seven minutes aground, the rescue planes got off. AAF photo.

Parley May Develop Whether Stalin Plans To Enter War On Japs

By CAPTAIN JOHN H. CRAIG
(Written Especially For International News Service)

The most important news that can come from the approaching conference of the big three statesmen of the United States, Russia and Britain is foreshadowed by widespread reports in informed circles to the effect that Marshal Joseph Stalin will highlight the occasion by declaring the Soviets' intention of coming into the war against Japan.

Apparently the conference is scheduled to begin its sittings at a very early date. Premier Winston Churchill of Great Britain was conspicuously absent from a scheduled appearance in London's House of Commons yesterday and President Roosevelt was equally conspicuously absent from birthday celebrations in the United States.

This double absence, which was headlined in the press here and in England, carries its own inference.

Should Act Soon
If Prime Minister Stalin plans to declare his country in on the American-British war in the Pacific at the forthcoming conference, he cannot say so a moment too soon to please those who are familiar with the tremendous difficulties faced by fighting men of the American Army, Navy and Marine Corps in the Pacific, who have carried more than ninety per cent of the burden of the war against the Mikado's empire up to date.

SUGGEST KAISER FOR HEAD OF RFC

Business Men Start Drive To Have 'Miracle Builder' Of War Named To Post

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—(INS)—A strong drive, spearheaded by business men supporting President Roosevelt, was opened today to make Henry J. Kaiser head of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and other vast loan agencies taken from Jesse H. Jones.

Kaiser, fabulous shipbuilder, was reported on good authority to be both willing and anxious to take the job.

The campaign for Kaiser, launched both in Washington and among New Dealers in New York, is based upon the virtual certainty that the senators would deny Henry A. Wallace supervision of the loan agencies which now are under the department of commerce.

Under the plan, the New Deal group would seek to persuade the president to name Kaiser Federal Loan administrator when that office is recreated in a separation of loan and commerce department powers.

Kaiser, hailed as a miracle builder in the present war, has been close to Mr. Roosevelt. His leading backers are in the business men's league for Roosevelt, which conducted an active fourth term campaign.

Kaiser is regarded by New Dealers as "a liberal financier." He is a champion of vast expansion of industry.

Supporters of the shipbuilder believe the New Deal group headed by Wallace would approve his appointment. In a recent New York speech Wallace warned against selection of a "too little" and "too late" man to head the loan agencies.

Russian Forces Reach Kustrin Berlin Reports

Oder River Reached At Point Only 35 Miles From German Capital

SOVIET FORCES ARE SWEEPING ON

By NATALIA RENE
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

MOSCOW, Feb. 1.—Marshal Gregory K. Zhukov's westward-racing armored units rolled to within little more than 35 miles of Berlin today, enemy radio dispatches reported in a series of frenzied bulletins.

The Berlin transmitter relayed a DNB flash asserting that the Reds had cracked through hastily-formed defense lines and stabbed to Kustrin, on the Oder river, approximately 35 miles from the boundary of the German capital.

While official Soviet announcements said merely that Zhukov's capture of Landsberg, four miles west of Landsberg, left him with 33 miles more to go before reaching Berlin, frontline reports said the bomb-pocked capital now hears the roar of approaching Russian artillery.

Then Comes Berlin
One correspondent at the front reported that within 24 hours Red artillery is expected to be pounding Frankfurt on Oder—"And after Frankfurt comes Berlin."

He said that the Russians now are massing their strength for a crossing of the Oder in that sector to wipe out the enemy's last defensive barrier.

In East Prussia, the Soviets broke into the last ring of fortifications south of Königsberg as Nazi "alarm groups" went into action. Nazi prisoners, dazed by the pounding of the (Continued On Page Two)

Naval Building Not To Slacken

Navy Releases Program For 1945 Building Similar To 1944 Construction

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—(INS)—The Navy, indicating today that the Pacific war will continue at its present accelerated pace, released a 1945 ship and plane program that falls little short of the huge 1944 expenditures.

In the fourth year of the war, the Navy will be spending from twenty-eight to thirty billions of dollars, five to six billions on military pay and the remainder for ship and plane construction, ordnance supply and shore facilities.

Cannot Be Content
Secretary Forrestal explained that despite the already tremendous size of the navy—the greatest fleet the world has ever seen—naval planners dare not rest content with what they have.

The additional construction, he said, will serve to maintain the tremendous margin of American superiority, a margin that has enabled American forces to prepare a multiple series of operations on an almost simultaneous basis.

Report U. S. Naval Flotillas Are Seen Near Corregidor

(BULLETIN)

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—(INS)—The Tokyo radio said today that "strong" enemy naval units in Subic Bay off the west coast of Luzon "are now bombarding the northwestern part of Bataan peninsula."

The broadcast said that the naval force began entering the bay, lying north of Bataan, on Tuesday.

The Tokyo broadcast followed a Japanese Domei agency wireless dispatch which declared that the naval force ins Subic Bay numbered "more than 10 battleships, cruisers, destroyers and several other unidentified ships."

The Domei dispatch commented that "in shortly more than two weeks since the enemy first landed troops on the coast of Lingayen Gulf, the battle for Luzon has gradually expanded to the south, and fighting has become increasingly heavy."

Economy, Glamor
Mark Fashions
Shown In London

By DOREEN DIPPER
(N. E. Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, Feb. 1.—Economy and glamor go hand in hand among the spring fashions now being shown in London.

A new feature is the use of cotton materials for evening dresses.

Further departures from conventional war-time styles include looser sleeves set into deep armholes, large bows, and pastel-tinted leathers decorated with jewel colored embroidery, while bright-colored fancy tartan materials are favored for day-time frocks.

At one dress show a tall, slim, golden-haired model in a black and white evening dress walked by to the distinct rustle of rich silk.

But the dress material was only a black and white cotton fabric; the rustle came from the skirt of a pre-war evening dress now doing duty as an underskirt.

"Economy Suggestions"

Designers are full of helpful "economy" suggestions. For instance, one evening dress can be made into several changes with the help of embroidered detachable leather collars and belts with pockets attached.

A black evening dress had cuffs and belt to which a perky pale blue frill was attached. A green crepe evening dress had collar, belt and deep pocket of pink leather embroidered in rose coloring.

Printed rayon blouses to wear with suits are tied with a soft artist's bow at the neck. Short bolero jackets are nipped at the waist with a flippant flared basque showing below. Jackets are longer and fit trimly around the hips.

Attractive reversible woolen materials help to solve the tailoring problem—the fronts merely have to be turned back.

For Quick Cough Relief,
Mix This at Home

Saves You Big Dollars, and It's So Easily Mixed.

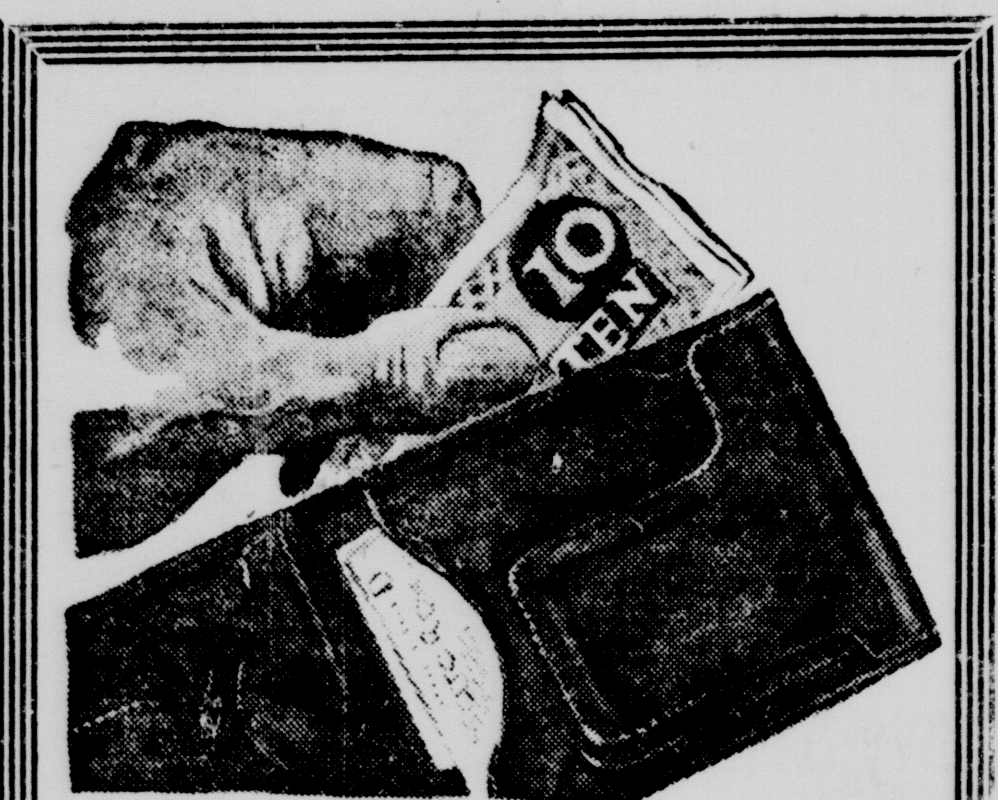

Here's an old home mixture your mother probably used, but for real relief, it is still one of the most effective and dependable for coughs due to colds. Once tried, you'll swear by it.

It's no trouble. Make a syrup by stirring 2 cups granulated sugar and 1 cup water a few moments until dissolved. No cooking needed—it's so easy! Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup.

Now put 2½ ounces of Pinex into a pint bottle, and add your syrup. This makes a full pint of truly splendid cough medicine, and gives you about four times as much for your money. It keeps perfectly, tastes fine, and lasts a family a long time.

And you'll say it's really amazing, for quick action. You can feel it take hold promptly. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and helps clear the air passages. Thus it makes breathing easy, and lets you get restful sleep.

Pinex is a special compound of proven ingredients in concentrated form, well-known for its prompt action on throat and bronchial membranes. Money refunded if it doesn't please makes a full pint of truly splendid you in every way.

grad would seem tame by comparison. Years ago, Hitler and his henchmen built gigantic pillboxes at all strategic street-corners, not then in fear of invasion but to kill off at its outset any popular uprising by a people fed up at last with tyranny and the bitter fruits of a lost war.

Unless the Nazis forego a last-minute change of heart, history's greatest battle thus may occur in the third largest city of Europe.

Moscow dispatches still rang with the supreme confidence that has radiated from the Soviet capital ever since Stalin launched his offensive and it seemed to be entirely justified. Emergency German defenses were overrun along a 130-mile front along the Oder river. The Russians were massing their strength for a general crossing of the stream and one frontline correspondent reported back to Moscow that within 24 hours the city of Frankfurt-on-the-Oder would be under artillery fire.

Capt. Don E. Kane of Austin, Tex., told Feldman that he and other prisoners were healthy compared to what they were a few weeks ago.

It was then that the Jap guards withdrew to the outside of the prison stockade, and the prisoners immediately seized the ration line behind the guards.

Kane, who lost more than 83 pounds during his internment said that some of the men gained as many as 30 pounds since they had a chance to get the rations.

The channel port west of the provincial capital was brought under fire by Gen. Ivan Chernyakovsky's big guns.

Reds Move Ahead

The Soviets moved into eastern Germany to points more than 30 miles from the frontier along a line extending from Zulichau on the south to the newly-captured town of Jastrow on the north.

Other frontline dispatches indicated that the Russians may have reached the German town of Ratibor, 25 miles southwest of Gleiwitz in the upper Silesian industrial region. The town is on the Oder near the junction of Germany, Poland and Czechoslovakia and is farther south than any other point the Reds have reached on that river.

Front dispatches said that the Russians sweeping into eastern Germany west of Posen had shattered the fortified zone in the area which consisted of line after line of concrete pillboxes, trenches and dugouts.

"The capital of Nazi Germany already hears the echo of Moscow salutes—not symbolically but with its own ears," the Soviet army paper Red Star said in a jubilant editorial. "It is the thunder of artillery regiments moving forward with Marshal Zhukov's troops."

Red Star also called the crushed line of German defenses the "last hope of Germany."

Can See Flashes In Berlin

(A Reuters report from Stockholm quoted Swedes arriving from Berlin who said that flashes from the front line firing could be seen clearly through the darkness in Berlin when they left the German capital last night.)

The Soviet newspaper Izvestia printed a front line dispatch saying that panic had gripped the eastern region of the Reich.

"More and more refugees carrying bundles, pushing their belongings before them in perambulators or riding bicycles are pouring along the roads to seek the doubtful sanctuary of towns beyond the Oder," the paper said.

Red Star also reported that Soviet forces in East Prussia had broken through the line of German fortifications south of the surrounded city of Koenigsberg.

A front dispatch said advanced Russian spearheads had captured the Koenigsberg zoo and were fighting their way through the city's cemetery.

A subsequent Berlin broadcast said the Soviets had reached within 45 miles of Berlin when armored spearheads attacked the town of Oderbruch.

Advance Toward Stettin

At the same time Moscow said that Zhukov's forces had advanced to within 49 miles of Stettin, the Baltic port outlet of Berlin, the fall of which will isolate northeastern Germany.

The curiously humbler Berlin radio admitted however that the Russians had pushed on to the town of Soldin where they were only some 35 miles from Stettin.

As Zhukov's powerful forces rolled westward from surrounded Posen, they captured more than 100 additional German towns and villages including Meseritz, 60 miles east of Berlin, and Schwiebus, only 81 miles to the southeast of the German capital.

The Russians also captured Zulichau, the southern terminus of the front threatening the Oder defenses, Frankfurt-am-Oder, and Friedberg, both of which are vital communications hubs athwart the approaches to Berlin.

Cut Koenigsberg Highway

In the bitter fighting which lopped another hundred square miles from the diminishing Nazi foothold in East Prussia, the Russians cut the last highway running out of Koenigsberg and captured more than 3,300 Nazi officers and men. At the same time 53 German planes were seized.

Most of the 50 more towns were grabbed by the Soviets in East Prussia, including Gross Heydekrug, nine miles to the west of Koenigsberg, where the last road out of the capital was cut, completely surrounding the city.

The Second White Russian army occupied another 40 towns and villages in East Prussia in the area north of Allenstein as they beat back repeated Nazi attempts to break out of their trap and fight their way into the Reich.

What may have been a Russian maneuver to outflank the entire German line along the Oder river was seen in a Berlin admission that Zhukov's forces had secured a bridgehead across the stream at Glocau, 50 miles northwest of Breslau and 80 miles south of Frankfurt-am-Oder.

Olongapo Base Taken

Capture of Olongapo naval base, second only to Cavite in importance, was announced by Gen. Douglas MacArthur who also revealed that a new amphibious operation placed Yank forces on strategic Grande island dominating the mouth of Subic bay to the west of Bataan.

With Olongapo already in use by warships and transports of MacArthur's command, the five-starred American general was slamming into high gear the machinery to shorten by some 250 miles his communications lines and provide a short route over which to pour men and materiel into the fight to liberate Manila.

MacArthur's communique, announcing the second amphibious assault in as many days by the newly-activated eighth army of Lieut. Gen. Robert Eichelberger revealed that forces landed on Grande island which stands in the mouth of Subic bay as mighty Corregidor dominates the entrance to Manila bay.

A subsequent Berlin broadcast said the Soviets had reached within 45 miles of Berlin when armored spearheads attacked the town of Oderbruch.

Advance Toward Stettin

At the same time Moscow said that Zhukov's forces had advanced to within 49 miles of Stettin, the Baltic port outlet of Berlin, the fall of which will isolate northeastern Germany.

The curiously humbler Berlin radio admitted however that the Russians had pushed on to the town of Soldin where they were only some 35 miles from Stettin.

As Zhukov's powerful forces rolled westward from surrounded Posen, they captured more than 100 additional German towns and villages including Meseritz, 60 miles east of Berlin, and Schwiebus, only 81 miles to the southeast of the German capital.

The Russians also captured Zulichau, the southern terminus of the front threatening the Oder defenses, Frankfurt-am-Oder, and Friedberg, both of which are vital communications hubs athwart the approaches to Berlin.

Cut Koenigsberg Highway

In the bitter fighting which lopped another hundred square miles from the diminishing Nazi foothold in East Prussia, the Russians cut the last highway running out of Koenigsberg and captured more than 3,300 Nazi officers and men. At the same time 53 German planes were seized.

Most of the 50 more towns were grabbed by the Soviets in East Prussia, including Gross Heydekrug, nine miles to the west of Koenigsberg, where the last road out of the capital was cut, completely surrounding the city.

The Second White Russian army occupied another 40 towns and villages in East Prussia in the area north of Allenstein as they beat back repeated Nazi attempts to break out of their trap and fight their way into the Reich.

What may have been a Russian maneuver to outflank the entire German line along the Oder river was seen in a Berlin admission that Zhukov's forces had secured a bridgehead across the stream at Glocau, 50 miles northwest of Breslau and 80 miles south of Frankfurt-am-Oder.

Olongapo Base Taken

Capture of Olongapo naval base, second only to Cavite in importance, was announced by Gen. Douglas MacArthur who also revealed that a new amphibious operation placed Yank forces on strategic Grande island dominating the mouth of Subic bay to the west of Bataan.

With Olongapo already in use by warships and transports of MacArthur's command, the five-starred American general was slamming into high gear the machinery to shorten by some 250 miles his communications lines and provide a short route over which to pour men and materiel into the fight to liberate Manila.

MacArthur's communique, announcing the second amphibious assault in as many days by the newly-activated eighth army of Lieut. Gen. Robert Eichelberger revealed that forces landed on Grande island which stands in the mouth of Subic bay as mighty Corregidor dominates the entrance to Manila bay.

Until comparatively recently, French peasants often ate cats as rabbits. It is said that the practice persists in some sections of the country. In China, both cats and dogs are pickled whole and then eaten.

countrymen, sticking out their necks to come to the rescue," Folster declared.

The broadcaster said the liberating force had expected 10 per cent of the prisoners to be litter cases and had been trained to carry casualties over their shoulders. However, almost all the prisoners were able to walk, Folster said.

He also said the prisoners had been "kicked all over Luzon island" by their Jap captors and had been forced to build airstrips and subsist on a diet of rice and salt "when they could buy it."

The tales the liberated men tell have already had an effect on soldiers of the American invading force, according to Folster.

"You should see the GIs' down here who used to gripe," he said. "After seeing what the war has meant to these liberated men, there's no griping now."

the continued momentous Russian advance and present stirrings on the western front which may materialize into a nutcracker offensive, presently is giving rise to an outburst of tremendous optimism in Britain.

The man in the street is talking of the prospect that the warfare in Europe may be all over in a matter of weeks, but the more sober and informed viewpoint still is that a hard core of German resistance may yet show itself on the Oder river battle line.

Undoubtedly, it is felt the Germans will hold on determinedly to their western front positions as long as possible. There seems no evidence now that the scare in the east is yet affecting the defense in the west.

DELOSKI BORATEN

CHURCH WEDDING

SS. Philip and James church was the scene of an impressive winter white wedding when Miss Amelia Deloski, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Deloski, R. D. 1, and Edward J. Boraten, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Boraten of Edinboro, pledged marital vows at a double ring ceremony Saturday morning, January 27, at 10:30 o'clock. Rev. V. V. Stanciewski officiated at high altar mass.

The bride, escorted down the aisle by her father, wore a train-length gown of white duchess satin with seed pearls embroidery around the sweetheart neckline. Her illusion veil fell from a coronet edged with seed pearls. Her only jewelry was a lavalere worn by her mother as a bride. She carried calla lilies.

Miss Jeanne Chenski was her cousin's maid of honor and the Misses Helen Boraten, Genny Boraten, Helen Smialek and Helen Kieker were bridesmaids. Al Surovick served as best man and ushers were Jack Fray, James Surovick, Andy Hanisek and Henry Boraten.

Miss Marie Dukewicz, organist, played the wedding march and Ave Maria.

Immediately following the congratulatory period a wedding dinner for the bridal party and reception was held in the SS. Philip and James parish hall where an orchestra furnished music.

The couple cut the tiered wedding cake amid white streamers and decorations. Later they left on a short honeymoon. They will be at home in Franklin Park, Erie.

Mrs. Boraten graduated from Shenango high school and has been employed at Webster Products Inc. Mr. Boraten attended the Edinboro high school and is employed at the Erie works of the General Electric company.

Out-of-town guests who attended the wedding were: Mr. and Mrs. Edward Adamski of Cleveland, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Charney, the Misses Jean and Wanda Lesnicki and Florence Bufalari, all of Erie, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Smialek of Edinboro, Mr. and Mrs. Emil Grega and the Misses Josephine and Margaret Hanisek, all of Girard, O., Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Taylor of Albion, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kufel and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Szellist, all of Alliquippa, Mrs. Mary Fray of Ellwood City, Mrs. Wanda Migut and Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Gosciejuski of Ellport, and Jacob Sonski and Joseph Rice, both of Wampum.

Planes Versus Ships

International air commerce in the years after the war will achieve proportions hardly dreamed of five years ago. But what will be the effect on other forms of transportation? What will happen to the shipping industry?

L. Welch Poole, chairman of the Civil Aeronautics Board, addressed himself to these questions in a speech before the New York Board of Trade. His answers should be encouraging to those concerned over the future of sea transportation. There will be, he said, "a tremendous growth" of air trade and travel in the postwar period. But it will be largely new business and shipping lines can also look forward to expansion.

This forecast presupposes that conditions will be favorable to world commerce. But, barring artificial barriers, Mr. Poole believes that there will be more work for ships to do as well as planes. He declared that as long as the surface ship is the cheapest means of freight movement, only a small share of the total business will be moved by plane. Factors that were in operation before the war have changed somewhat, and they are subject to further change, but they will not disappear all at once. It will be a long time before the oceans are swept bare of liners and freighters and before men will no longer go down to the sea in ships.

Save Your Own Bacon

Knowledge of fire causes and of conditions which permit a small fire to become serious, is very essential to fire prevention. Without such knowledge, inspections are valueless. A simple report that a cellar contained rubbish, or a store was selling cotton batting in the basement area, means little. But if this rubbish is beneath the stairs or the cotton is open on a table at the foot of the main stairway, any experienced fireman can visualize the inferno he would have to go through to reach a fire in the basement.

Study shows that a large percentage of fires endangering life and property originate in basements and cellars. Such fires may result from an accumulation of paper and boxes, or the improper use of stoves instead of pumps for the discharge of oil from drums, or the continued use of defective stoves, or any one of several causes which, even though corrected, could develop between inspections.

Repeated fires of this character emphasize the inaccessibility of fires in cellars and basements. As a result, the important facts to be considered in controlling such fires, are the location of stairways and other entrances, and providing means of fighting fires in basements from other than an interior stairway.

Many basements are bound to remain a serious fire menace unless they are provided with a sprinkler system which, if not supplied by a connection to a street main, could be fed by hose lines from a fire engine.

The foregoing simple suggestions will enable any person having the well-being of his property and community at heart, to safeguard his own premises at little cost, with possibility of great saving to himself.

Final Gesture

There has been little news of the manner in which Hitler's orders to Germans in the path of the Russian invaders to apply the "scorched earth" policy have been obeyed. It is not clear whether only material and installations of military value are included, or whether the country is to be denuded in much the same manner that Russia was scorched during the Nazi retreat. In either event, it is an action of despair, and will hasten Nazi defeat.

Even if confined to military installations and munitions, it signifies a lessening of the power to fight. If farm homes, towns and cities are burned and the country is denuded of all property, Germany will become a waste land, destroyed by Hitler's folly. Certainly in that event Hitler can have little concern for the future of his people, homeless and hungry, facing a relentless and powerful enemy. The Nazis, as a matter of cold, hard fact have no place to which to withdraw which will not be overrun by the invaders.

With thousands of refugees pouring in from conquered territory, the German food problem will be tremendous. There has not been an abundance of food in recent months. Facing starvation, the population may finally revolt against Hitler's rule. Deserted by all their allies, the Nazis seem determined to go down to defeat on the ruins of their own land, taking the German people with them.

Simple Way Of Boosting Morale

Say what you will about General MacArthur's flamboyance, he's proved himself one of the great military strategists and leaders of all time. His campaign of return to the Philippines is a classic of keen planning, audacious action, and sheer courage.

Yet the general found time during the planning of this amazingly successful campaign to carry out a simple little scheme of keeping high the morale of his Filipino friends during the Japanese occupation: By submarine, airplane and island craft, he sent into the islands—while the Jap warlords held sway—thousands of packages of cigarettes, pencils, bullets for carbines, mirrors, sticks of chewing gum, folders of matches, all marked with the words, "I shall return," and signed, "MacArthur."

The natives received these items in countless underground ways. They loved them. And their leaders saw to it that one of more of the "I-shall-return" messages reached the desks, offices, homes, and garages of Jap officers and soldiers. The Filipinos thus were enabled to technically thumb their noses at the "conquerors." The Japs were infuriated—and baffled, too, as to how such a thing could happen when they "ruled" the island.

General MacArthur not only is winning a great military victory in his campaign to liberate the Philippines. He won an important psychological battle over the Japanese before he even returned to the islands.

Life for the weather man this winter seems to be just one cold wave after another.

We have now arrived at the period when we may be able to succeed beyond our wildest dreams and yet not be able to bring home the bacon.

Remember the little boy who always refused to play unless he could have his own way? Well he grew up to be a leader of "independent" political movements.

President Roosevelt is quoted as saying that he directs his policy a "little left of center." The substituting of Hank Wallace for Jesse Jones looks to us more like a U-turn.

King Peter Problem Child Of Balkans

LONDON, Feb. 1.—King Peter of Yugoslavia has become the problem child of the Balkans, and the Big Three at their meeting are going to have to consider what to do about him.

Peter has recently asserted his royal prerogatives in a way to drive his British hosts to distraction. The comedy of intrigue has been played out, with Peter in the role of the wayward monarch firing his ministers and refusing advice from one and all.

At one point Peter fired even his court chamberlain, so that when the British foreign office tried to get in touch with him they could find only a footman to talk to. This occurred at a time when the 21-year-old king had high-handedly dismissed Doctor Subasitch, his prime minister.

Embarrassing Situation This was done in a letter phrased in harsh terms. What made it so embarrassing was that it came just as an agreement was being worked out between the Yugoslav government-in-exile in London and the regime of Marshal Tito in Yugoslavia through a British intermediary. Some such agreement is essential if the London Yugoslavs are to participate in a restored government.

Tito and his Partisans, with the backing of Soviet Russia, has of course liberated a large part of his native land. He is in a position of great power as the Soviet armies sweep victoriously across eastern Europe.

While the Peter-Subasitch crisis was going on, with the king at one moment dismissing his prime minister and the next moment receiving him again, the British foreign office became worried about the reaction of Tito to all this. A wire was sent to the British diplomatic mission in Yugoslavia asking them to determine how upset Tito was by the quarrel.

The reply came back that Tito could not be more calm. After all, he is sitting with most of the high cards in his hand and there was no reason why he should be upset because in London the rival claimants for authority seemed to be deliberately frittering away any chances they might have had of sharing power.

Got Wrong Ideas Having spent nearly 10 years in London with court functionaries around him and the British government providing money for his pleasant country estate, Peter apparently got the idea he was a monarch with absolute powers. It is a situation with both tragedy and comedy as this charming, attractive young man plays at being king in the face of the grim realities of the present-day world.

In Hollywood it's a wise child to-day that knows it's current stepfather.

If Tito was not disturbed, the British certainly were. They saw perfectly well that all chances of a moderate government with representation of liberals and socialists were being jeopardized by Peter's behavior.

For this reason plans were made to send Subasitch and his cabinet back to Yugoslavia to implement an agreement with Tito regardless of the king's actions. Then followed a period of backing and filling in which on one day the king received Subasitch three times. The prospect opened up that the king might be left in London with no government at all. At this point Peter yielded and consented to a regency council pending a popular decision on his return.

In some respects this followed the same course as the Polish tragic-comedy. If the London Poles had been willing to accept the Curzon line a year and a half ago, a compromise with Moscow could have been reached. That, at least, the belief in informed sources here. What happened was that they yielded always too late, so that their belated retreat gained them nothing.

Poland Situation So far as Poland is concerned, the British are still planning their hopes on former Prime Minister Mikolajczyk, who declined to take part in the new government after his return from Moscow, where he had failed in his effort to bring the Soviets and the London Poles together in some sort of compromise with the Russian committee of liberation. The British here take what is called a "dim view" of the Lublin committee, feeling it is far from representative of the Polish people.

These are problems right on London's doorstep. They have to be dealt with from day to day. That is one of the important reasons why the Churchill government is so anxious to have consultative machinery set up so that the views of the three powers can be known without such long delays and uncertainties. What the British are holding to as basic in each situation is the holding of free elections that will give the people in each country an opportunity to express their choice without fear. That is still the hope for Poland.

That is also the objective in view for Greece, if somehow the present truce can be maintained by the regency and real peace restored to the country. Incidentally, it is interesting to know that throughout the entire Greek crisis not one word of expression came from the Soviets as to how they felt about it.

Free elections are likewise the ultimate hope for Yugoslavia. The people may have a chance to vote on whether they want to keep their charming, wayward king.

"Not married," exclaimed the astonished manager, "Didn't you apply for a raise because you were thinking of getting married?"
"Oh, aye," came the reply... "but I stopped thinking."

MASS INTRODUCTION

"How should a hostess introduce a caller who has dropped in unexpectedly when there are about nine guests in the living room? Should he be taken around the room and introduced to each other guest individually? I have heard that this is not proper."

Answer: When the group is large and scattered, do not take a newcomer around the room and introduce him to each person, since this would be awkward.

After you greet him, introduce him to the few persons standing near you and later when you have an opportunity present him to the others as he happens to be near them. However, a group of nine is not too large for individual introductions, especially since they all would probably be seated near one another and sharing the same general conversation. Here is the simplest form to be used in such a situation:

"Miss Just-Arrived (pause) Nearest Members of the Group." If a Mr. Just-Arrived, he should be introduced to Miss Nearest Member. The names of the other guests should then be given in the order in which they are standing or sitting without singling out the women first.

Question: At what age should a child be taught the proper manner of holding his spoon and fork and discouraged in the baby-fashion grip?

Answer: As soon as his hands are capable, he should be instructed in the proper manner of holding his silver. There is no age limit. The baby grip should be discouraged as early as possible.

Bullying Campaign Seeks To Aid Wallace

JUST AS A few weeks ago the extreme radical groups and the communist press went the limit in an effort to prevent confirmation of Mr. Roosevelt's State Department nominees—the Messrs. Clayton, Grew, Dunn and Rockefeller—so now they are going the limit to save Mr. Henry Wallace from rejection as Secretary of Commerce.

THE MOST violent and unrestrained attacks are being made upon such highly regarded senators as George, of Georgia, and Bailey, of North Carolina, for standing in the way of the Wallace confirmation. Unworthy and sinister motives are imputed to them and to every one else who dissents. All questions of Mr. Wallace's fitness for the job, or the openness with which the President declared his selection was a reward for political services, are ignored. Attack is fiercely centered upon the opposition as inimical to the "common man" and inspired by the "forces of evil." As at the dinner to him in New York, Mr. Wallace is somewhat ridiculously depicted as an heroic figure whom the afore-said forces are determined to destroy. The most horrendous consequences were predicted if he should be refused the place which he demands.

THIS IS recognized and established technique. It is the calculated strategy of the left-wing politicians, whose strength was enhanced by the election, and whose aim is to dominate the Congress and man the Government with their own people. And the thing that gives weight to this strategy is the CIO and its PAC. Without that, the fight against the State Department aides would have been, and the fight for Mr. Wallace would be, just so much noise. With it, there is a lot more. In reply to these statements there, of course, will be those to shout that the charge of CIO-PAC responsibility is without foundation and that it is conservative technique to assert it in every situation. But the facts are too clear to permit denial of that kind to be effective save with the totally uninformed or blindly prejudiced.

THE PLAIN truth is that the CIO-PAC is in every situation of importance—and intends to be. Its field is completely comprehensive. Its lobby overlooks nothing. Its publicity is the most powerful and persuasive in Washington. If you don't see the CIO-PAC in every situation here, then you are missing the salient fact in the situation. For example, take the situation in both branches of Congress this week. In the House, the big thing is the struggle over the May-Bailey "work-or-fight" bill, which proposes a national service for men between 18 and 45 in limited accord with the recommendations of General Marshall, Admiral King, the Secretaries of War and Navy and the President.

IN THE Senate, attention is centered upon the George bill to divorce the RFC and other loan agencies from the Department of Commerce, and also upon the question of confirming or rejecting Mr. Wallace. The CIO-PAC is in both these fights up to the neck. Simultaneously, on Monday, Mr. Sidney Hillman issued a statement charging that the "forces of reaction" are lined up against Mr. Wallace and calling upon all his regional and field directors to let their senators know how they felt. On the other side, Mr. Philip Murray called for similar action against the "work-or-fight" bill. At the same time, the CIO News pleaded with its readers to wire their congressmen or senator on both propositions and denounced all those who dissent.

MEANWHILE, the radical New York press has plunged into general denigrating operations against the supporters of the May-Bailey bill. In both branches it is the CIO-PAC which is directing and making the fight. Without the CIO-PAC there would be nothing to the opposition against the May-Bailey bill and certainly not a chance of Mr. Wallace being confirmed. To ignore or minimize the obvious and outstanding fact, yet, when these things are pointed out, there is a great outcry from the defenders of that organization.

THE CHARGE is made that a "straw man" is being set up; that those who dwell upon the CIO's part in these affairs are "obsessed"; that they are "labor baiting" or "red baiting." All of which is complete humbug and wholly insincere. The purpose is to vaccinate against the truth, to cover up for the CIO while it is operating, and to qualify itself as a good idea if they get away with it—and to a considerable extent they do. The members of Congress upon whom pressure is applied know the situation all right, but the people generally by no means grasp it.

IT OUGHT to be clear that if the CIO leaders win either the fight against limited national service or the fight for Mr. Wallace, their power will be greatly increased—they should win them both, they will be really in a dominant position. On the other hand, should they lose both, it will be a significant setback for the labor bosses and a striking demonstration of congressional independence. For it would mean a very conspicuous failure of a bulwark campaign to put radicals in control.

Drives On Germany Co-Ordinated Assaults
More Giant Bombers On Way Toward Japan
Too Late To Start Clothes Rationing Now

By HELEN ESSARY
(Central Press Columnist)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson has given the first official word that the Russian winter offensive in the east and the Allied assaults in the west are in fact planned, co-ordinated offensives against Germany.

Military observers for over a year have been unable to get any official confirmation that the three-power assault on Germany is, in fact, a combined military operation.

At the big three meeting in Teheran, in December of 1943, it was announced that plans for a co-ordinated attack on Hitler's fortress had been worked out. Since that date, however, there has been no military activity to indicate that this co-ordination extended to the timing of military drives.

Until barely a week ago, in fact, the view prevailed generally that Moscow was following the course of an independent military operation from the east. Some Washington sources privately voiced deep concern over the failure of Stalin to launch his winter offensive during the recent break-through on the western front.

All doubt of the nature of the Allied operations seems to be dispelled by Stimson's remark at his most recent press conference that "all these Soviet offensives reflect the constancy of the Russian effort, in cooperation with that of the United States, Great Britain and other Allies, to bring about the complete defeat of Germany."

Big Bombers Coming

The War Production Board announcement that the Renton, Wash., Boeing Aircraft plant will produce 200 Superfortresses a month by July is a hint of things to come for the Japanese as the war against Japan gains in intensity. Considerable emphasis is being given the production of huge bombers which will supplant smaller aircraft in the Pacific war. Army and War Production Board officials are particularly interested in the production of B-29 and B-32 bombers.

B-29 production figures have been a closely guarded secret, but Army sources gave an inkling of the strength of initial striking forces over Tokyo when it was publicly revealed that—superfortresses took part in the first raid over the Japanese capital.

War Production Board Chairman J. A. Krug parries all queries about overall production by saying that "We don't want to give the enemy any information."

While Boeing's Wichita, Kas., aircraft plant has been the blubberbon bomber producer, officials are constantly keeping a weather eye cocked at Omaha, Neb., Renton, Wash.,

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

SELF-RELIANT CHILD

We parents want the young child to be strong in body, to be happy, to express himself freely, to have all his questions answered as soon as he asks them, to become as free as possible from fears, to be kept from strong feelings of inferiority, to develop personality, to have enthusiasm, to give vent to his imagination, to build, invent, create, plan and carry through his plans, to have curiosity, to be always inquiring, always investigating, always learning something.

How can we give the child plenty of opportunity of self-expression with safety to himself and yet without annoyance to others, is a problem. In order to accomplish this end, he must learn that there are some things he must not do and some things he must not have. For his safety and the safety of property, and for the rights and comforts of others, we shall try to teach him early and without doubt to him the meaning of "no."

Learning Self-Control We want him to learn the alphabet of self-control, to have due consideration for the feelings and the rights of others. We want him to be likable, to avoid unnecessary conflicts, to become independent, to require as little aid as possible from others, and to do and think

Suggests Reading For Busy Women

City Librarian Presents List Of Books With Appeal For Women With Little Spare Time

As suggested reading for busy women, mothers and housewives who do not have much time for reading, but who want suggestions on what to read when they do occasionally find time, Miss Alice Sterling, librarian of the public library, has prepared a list of books.

None of the books are "heavy reading," difficult to get through, but are suggested for pleasant entertainment. But they are at the same time interesting and well worth reading, Miss Sterling says.

Three of the books deal with etiquette and behavior problems. If You Please by Allen, Smarter and Smoother, by Dahl and Strictly Private by Woodward. After a Fashion by Hall is a book in dress design.

In the light, pleasant, smooth-reading fiction class are Dr. Ellen by DeLewy, Whoa Matilda by Lambert, Nancy Naylor, Flight by Lansing, Airline Girl by O'Malley, Girl Without a Country by Poston, Mystery of the Hectic Holidays by Selkirk, Plain Clothes Patricia by Urnston, Jill Movie Maker by Olds, and Mystery at White Moccasins by Wadsworth.

Other books of fiction suggested are What Became of Anna Bolton by Bromfield, Jaina by De la Roche, and The Green Light and The Robe, both by Douglas.

Books of fiction that have been or soon will be in moving pictures are: National Velvet by Bagnold, Keys of the Kingdom by Cronin, Lassie Come Home by Knight, How Green Was My Valley by Llewellyn, Of Human Bondage by Maugham, My Friend Flicka by O'Hara, Song of Bernadette by Werfel, and The Virginian by Wister.

Thirty Seconds Over Tokyo by Ted Lawson has been made into a movie and so has Roughly Speaking by Pierson. Both are recent books available at the library.

For those who like to read about the lives of other people there are Good Night Sweet Prince, a biography of John Barrymore by Fowler, Bride in the Solomons by Osa Johnson, China's First Lady, Madame Chiang Kai-Shek, by McCloy, and First Woman Doctor, a story of Elizabeth Blackwell, by Baker.

David's Enchantment, a book of poems of love, by Ferris. All these books are available at the library. Ask for them at the desk.

Try To Step Up Production
While the Office of Price Administration wishes devoutly that clothes rationing had been initiated long ago when there were ample stocks on hand, the agency feels now that it is too late to start rationing clothing. Despite stock shortages, therefore, civilians can expect to buy without resorting to ration coupons.

The War Production Board and the Office of Price Administration are now concentrating on trying to discover some means of increasing civilian clothes production and cutting down clothing costs which have risen through the drop in production of less expensive clothing.

To balance the discouragement caused by low clothing supplies the hosiery industry predicts that nylon stockings will be more plentiful and better in quality after the war than they were at the time of Pearl Harbor.

Furthermore, they insist that rayon hosiery will be more popular than before the war because of the development of better, high-tenacity rayon yarn which will be turned into peacetime full-fashioned hose.

Silk stockings are not expected to be very popular in the post-war period. It is estimated that they will be worn by only about 20 percent of the women of the United States after the downfall of the Axis.

OPA Accountants To Aid Landlords In Making Petition

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 1.—Landlords who wish to petition for increased rents under the "substantial hardship" provision may avail themselves of the services of OPA accountants in preparing their petitions, according to Rev. Charles Owan Rice, area rent director. In petitioning on this ground, landlords are required to present their operating costs and rental income for a representative base period of three years prior to the maximum rent date, as well as the same figures for a period of one year under rent control, Rev. Rice explained. In certain special cases, where records for these years may not be available, a shorter period may be accepted by the rent office. Landlords who expect to petition under this provision should consult the Pittsburgh district office to find out what days the accountants will be in the district.

We want to enjoy his companionship and to have him enjoy ours. Once the child realizes with certainty that there are some things that he may not have, or may not do, we shall be free to spend our time in happy contact with him.

Undue Attention

Very early we should see that he gets no undue attention—that he does not have all his wishes gratified, and that we do not make too much self-sacrifice for him. He must learn self-denial if he is to be happy later and if, when he goes to school, he is to get on well with his teacher and his classmates.

We also want the child to learn self-reliance—to wait on himself and to manage himself regarding routine as early as possible, and to acquire good habits of responsibility. We need to win his co-operation in helping about the home.

but we should know that after he is four or five he hardly can be expected to share in the household drudgeries just for fun. We shall have to require him to do some regular jobs.

Feared Mass Execution
When Shots Were Heard
In Prison Camp Area

THEN HEARD SHOUTS
"YOU'RE FREE NOW"

By CLARK LEE
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

WITH AMERICAN RANGERS
NEAR CABANATUAN, Luzon, Jan. 31.—(Delayed)—Knifing swiftly and secretly through 30 miles of enemy territory, American and Filipino raiders surprised and slaughtered the Japanese garrison at the notorious Cabanatuan prison camp and rescued 510 prisoners who were returned safely to our lines today.

The men saved by this daring and breath-taking raid were mostly American veterans of Bataan and Corregidor who underwent almost indescribable torture during three years imprisonment but survived to be miraculously rescued at a time when they were momentarily expecting a mass execution.

They came back to us this sunny morning in what for them was "The March of Resurrection"—the opposite of the tragic death march from Bataan where they watched their comrades bayoneted and shot as they fell helplessly by the wayside.

With very few exceptions they looked emaciated and weak as they came through the rice fields in a long line. The legs and arms of some were so thin the bones showed. Some walked all bent over. Many rode on straw in Carabao-drawn carts.

"You're Free Now"

Some had not taken a step for 18 months until last night when shots suddenly blazed through the darkness of their camp and they heard American voices saying: "Come on boys! you're free now!"

They marched or rode the night long with their rescuers while guerrillas fought off strong Jap attacks and at Sibul three miles eastward from Talabera, met friends who were last seen three years ago—men whose hearts were now so filled with joy at first that they couldn't express themselves beyond "Thanks, sure glad to see you."

Among those rescued were 35 American civilians, 23 British soldiers, three Dutch and two Norwegian sailors.

The prisoners were as stunned as the Jap guards when the raiders struck at 7:45 o'clock yesterday evening shortly after dark after crawling to within a few feet of the prison stockade at Cabu five miles northeast of Cabanatuan.

Hearing the first shots, the Americans thought the Japs were going to massacre them—believed they were about to die when MacArthur's forces were only a relatively short distance away. Then a few minutes later they were enroute to the safety of our lines.

The raid was perfectly timed and executed. If it had been carried out two weeks earlier most Americans would have been too weak to make it but in that fortnight they had unexpectedly gotten sufficient food and supplies and recovered some of the average 70 pounds they had lost in Jap torture camps.

If the attack had been made the night previously the raiders would have encountered a force of Japs too strong to overcome.

The attacking party was comprised of a small force of the Sixth Ranger battalion and Filipino guerrillas all commanded by Lieut. Col. Henry A. Mucci.

According to a telegram received from the United States War Department, Mrs. Margaret Crawford of 1011 Wilmington avenue is informed that her husband, Pvt. Arthur (Bud) Crawford, was wounded in action on January 10, 1945, in Belgium. "Further information will be sent you from the hospital in the near future," it stated.

Pvt. Crawford is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Crawford, Huron avenue, this city.

COLLEGE TOWER WILL BE DARK

NEW WILMINGTON, Feb. 1.—Westminster College's Old Main tower, conspicuous landmark by day and a shining symbol of this college community by night, will be darkened this week end under the governments new "brown-out" regulations.

Floodlights on the 112-foot stone tower have been lighted on week-ends and special occasions for the past 15 years, since the building was erected, except for the earlier "dim-out" period at the beginning of the war.

Complying with the WPB's regulations prohibiting outdoor lighting, college officials have ordered the lights darkened for the duration of the limitation.

Lt. Gen. Wainwright Not Among Rescued

(International News Service)

More than 500 American and British prisoners of the Japanese were back to safety today after miraculous rescue by a raiding party in the Philippines, but Lieut. Gen. Jonathan B. Wainwright was not among them.

Wainwright, field commander in the Philippines, who held out at Bataan and Corregidor until forced to surrender, is believed to have been taken to Japan.

Tokyo propaganda leaflets some time ago carried photographs of the captured general at a so-called "freedom" prison camp somewhere in the enemy's home islands.

Discharged Employee Faces Arson Charge

UNIVERSAL, Pa., Feb. 1.—(INS)—Homer Fisher, 19, today was charged with arson after three fires broke out in less than two hours at the Universal Portland Cement Company's boarding house and threatened the lives of 26 persons.

Although none of the fires did much damage, police reported, Mike Ondo, plant worker, barely escaped death once when he awoke to find his bed afire.

Authorities said Fisher was discharged from the plant three weeks ago.

Schooner Burned, Abandoned At Sea

NORFOLK, Va., Feb. 1.—(INS)—The Fifth Naval District disclosed today that the schooner Mildred Silva had been burned and abandoned in the Atlantic off the coast of Virginia. The Navy did not reveal the cause of the fire.

According to the latest information, four survivors of the schooner Silva have been rescued and four are listed as missing. The Navy would not say whether any other members of the crew had gone down with the ship.

SHARON TEACHER DIES

SHARPSVILLE, Feb. 1.—Miss Emma M. Deeter, 86, a school teacher here for 48 years before she retired in 1928, died Thursday at her home in West Main street. The Emma Deeter school building on Mercer avenue was named in her honor.

CAN'T KEEP GRANDMA IN HER CHAIR

She's as Lively as a Youngster—
Now her Backache is better

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up at night, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Hears Husband Rescued

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 1.—(INS)—Mrs. June Shimmel, a civilian employee of the marine corps quarter-master depot in South Philadelphia, lost her breath today when an officer brought her the news that her husband, Warrant Officer James B. Shimmel, was among the men rescued from a Jap prison camp on Luzon.

But she quickly regained her breath, if not her composure, and overjoyed she laughed heartily as tears welled in her eyes.

"I knew he was a prisoner of the Japs, but I wasn't really certain that he was safe until now."

Her husband served in the navy during the last war and since then served three hitches for a total of 20 years in the marines.

Senate Democrats Caucus In Battle Over Henry Wallace

Barkley Seeks To Revive Support
For Approval Of Wallace's Appointment

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—Senate Democrats were summoned to an extraordinary caucus today to discuss the bitter fight over nomination of Henry A. Wallace as secretary of commerce under a pledge that no attempt will be made to bind the conference for the former vice-president.

This pledge was given by Senate Majority Leader Alben Barkley, who called the caucus, to Democratic opponents of Wallace. Barkley was to leave a sick-bed at the naval hospital to take charge of the meeting.

Wallace foes gave notice they would refuse to be bound by a party rule if any effort were made to commit them by a majority vote.

"The last attempt made to bind Democrats in a caucus was during the 'court packing' fight of 1937," said Sen. Byrd (D) Va. "It failed. I do not see how they could bind us and I am assured that Sen. Barkley will not ask it."

The emergency caucus was called as the Wallace battle neared a climax in the senate and the former vice-president submitted an 11th hour statement to the commerce committee in which he made a last minute bid for his confirmation as commerce secretary with control of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and other government lending agencies.

Barkley was expected to propose that action on the Wallace nomination be delayed until the George Bill, which divorces the lending agencies from the commerce department, can be enacted into law, or President Roosevelt separates them by executive order.

Merchant Mariner And Marine Meet

Ira C. Houck And Sgt. Jake Holzhauser Get Together In Pearl Harbor

Ira C. Houck, who is serving as a warrant officer with the merchant marine in the Pacific, met a friend from home, Sgt. Jake Holzhauser U. S. M. C. when he was in Pearl Harbor on a recent run, according to word sent his parents Mr. and Mrs. Homer J. Houck, of East New Castle.

The two went aboard ship and "had some good meals. Jake is feeling fine," Houck reports. Sgt. Holzhauser is the son of Mrs. Elizabeth Holzhauser, of 832 Butler avenue. He is stationed at Pearl Harbor.

Before shipping out on the Pacific Houck was on the Atlantic run and has been in port in many countries of Europe including Russia, England, Ireland and Italy. He enlisted first three years ago, in the British Merchant Marine and later transferred to service with the United States.

A brother, Cpl. William Houck U. S. M. C., is on duty in the Pacific area.

Reads Obituary Column And Nabs Divorced Husband

CHICAGO, Feb. 1.—(INS)—At least one woman who daily reads the obituary columns of her newspaper had something to show for her pains today.

Mrs. Esther Thomas, 40, was divorced from her husband, Edwin L. 45, in October, 1935. She was awarded $7 weekly alimony for support of the couple's seven-year-old son, Donald. Her husband made three payments and then disappeared. Mrs. Thomas said.

Noting by the obituary columns that Edwin's father had died, Mrs.

Thomas shrewdly guessed that her ex-husband would attend the funeral. She was right and sheriff's deputies seized him at the cemetery. Thomas was remanded to the county jail pending a hearing on the $3,377 back alimony he allegedly owes.

MISSIONARY WILL SPEAK AT MISSION

Miss Alma E. Doering of Philadelphia, president of the Unevangelized Tribes Mission, will speak at the City Rescue Mission, South Mercer street, on Friday evening at 8 o'clock. Rev. D. R. Wert, superintendent of the mission, announced today.

A veteran of 40 years field work in Africa, Miss Doering will show motion pictures of the work being done now by workers in the field.

Cpl. John Wagner Jr. Home From Pacific

After 33 months of service in the Pacific and South Pacific areas, during which time he participated in three major campaigns against the Japs, Cpl.-Tech. John D. Wagner, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Wagner, of 1205 School street, has arrived home for a month's leave.

Cpl. Wagner has seen a great amount of strange territory during his sojourn in the Pacific area. He has been in Australia, New Guinea and the Philippines. He has been serving with a reconnaissance tank destroyer battalion.

Would Amend State Mental Health Act

HARRISBURG, Feb. 1.—(INS)—A bill which would amend the state mental health act and require examinations by three doctors instead of two before a patient may be committed to an institution was before the House today.

The measure was co-sponsored by Reps. J. P. Moran and B. Frank Hunter, Allegheny Democrats.

On Bougainville Island, a bachelor of the Kerikas tribe must wear a peculiar hat from the time of young manhood to the day of his wedding, and any woman seeing him bareheaded is liable to die.

Democratic Senate Leader
Abandons Effort To Confirm Henry Wallace

By WILLIAM S. NEAL

(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—Democratic Senate Leader Alben Barkley, Ky., today formally abandoned any attempt to confirm Henry A. Wallace to be both secretary of commerce and supervisor of vast government loan agencies. Barkley gave up the fight at a caucus of senate Democrats.

Barkley made his first public statement in the bitter controversy after the caucus discussed, but took no action, on a course of procedure.

An immediate senate showdown, however, was not averted by the plea of the Democratic leader for harmony.

Sen. Josiah Bailey (D-N. C.) said he would move that the senate go into executive session to consider the Wallace nomination before debate begins on the George bill separation loan agencies from the department of commerce.

"I called this conference to discuss the Wallace nomination without making any attempt to bind the vote of any senator."

"I expressed the hope that the senate will pass the George bill and postpone consideration of the nomination. I also stated that I had assurance that the house would act promptly on the George bill.

"I never had any intention of making a motion to recommit the Wallace nomination to the commerce committee. I will propose that further consideration of the Wallace nomination be postponed to a day certain, so that congress can pass the George bill and the president can approve or disapprove it."

Wallace supporters proposed in a Democratic senate caucus today that a vote upon his confirmation as secretary of commerce be postponed by the senate until the George bill divorcing loan agencies can become law.

This was disclosed by senators emerging from the caucus before any definite action had been taken by the senate Democrats.

The caucus opened under a pledge that no attempt will be made to bind Democratic conference in favor of Wallace.

FIREMAN CAMPBELL
RELEASED FROM ARMY

City Fireman Lee W. Campbell of West Washington street, who has been in the U. S. Army for 26 months, has been released from service and has returned to his duties on the city fire department. He was discharged on January 22 at Fort Dix, N. J.

Fireman Campbell was stationed in Colorado with the Seventh Service Command.

NO METER DIFFICULTY

Arthur Harris, caretaker of the meter division of the police department, reported today that despite adverse weather conditions he has not experienced much difficulty with the operation of the parking meters.

Roads Hazardous
Result Of Snow
Drifted By Wind

Crawford and Erie Counties Report

1 To 3 Inches Of Snow
Last 12 Hours

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 1.—(INS)—Brisk winds whipped through western Pennsylvania today, piling snowdrifts high on many of the main highways and making driving conditions hazardous, as the district continued to shiver in sub-freezing temperatures.

In Crawford and Erie counties from one to three inches of snow was reported to have fallen in the last 12 hours, while only brief snow flurries were reported in the southern counties.

The Automobile club of Pittsburgh advised motorists not to attempt to travel from Pittsburgh to Erie, and only emergency trips to Butler on route 8 should be attempted. To the east route 22 was reported impassable between Delmont and Duquesne, and state police at Ebensburg were advising motorists to stay off the roads.

Heavy ice, caused by the prolonged cold spell, was slowing Monaca river towboats in making deliveries, and has reduced the number of barges in the river, rivermen said.

Sgt. C. C. Means
Dies Of Wounds

Ellwood City Soldier Dies From Injuries Received In Action,
War Department States

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 1.—Sgt. Cornelius C. "Connie" Means, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Means of Lawrence avenue, died as the result of wounds received in action in France on January 15, according to a message received by his parents from the war department.

He was born March 30, 1912, and attended Ellwood City high school. He was a member of the Immanuel Reformed church.

Sgt. Means was inducted into the service on December 5, 1942, and had been overseas since last October, serving with General Patch's seventh army.

Besides his parents he leaves three brothers, First Sgt. LeRoy C. Means, now in action in Belgium; Merle and Richard Means, and two sisters, Mrs. Gracie MacDonald and Mrs. Lee Shirley, all of Ellwood City.

Another Housing
Problem Develops

Another housing problem presented itself today to New Castle, but this one can be solved fairly easily if a number of citizens of the city are willing to rent furnished rooms to soldiers.

As a means of easing the manpower shortage in vital industries here, the Army is furloughing skilled men for work back in the plants. In the past week they have been coming into New Castle in small groups, and within a few days there will be about one hundred of them here.

They need living quarters if they are to stay. Citizens who are willing to rent one or more rooms to these furloughed soldiers are asked to call the Greater New Castle association at 879 or the USO at 6546.

ACCOMMODATIONS
FOR SOLDIERS
FAMILIES NEEDED

Sleeping and light housekeeping rooms for families of soldiers stationed at Deshon Army hospital and Deshon Annex are urgently needed in the vicinity of New Castle. Mrs. George Bolinger states today. While residents have responded to an earlier request, many more accommodations are needed for periods of 90 days or longer by visiting relatives of U. S. servicemen here to spend as much time as possible with them.

Registrations of those having spare rooms will be taken at the USO, Phone 6546.

Drifts Are Again
Clogging Roads

School Buses Having Hard Time
Getting Through Drifts Today,
Superintendent Syling Learns

Although no reports had been received this morning by County Superintendent of Schools John C. Syling, that last night's snow had forced any schools to close, the school buses operating throughout the county had a hard time getting through today, because of drifts which formed during the night.

Fortunately last night's snow was not very heavy, but it was driven by a brisk wind, which caused some roads to drift badly.

No more schools have been forced to suspend because of the coal shortage, Mr. Syling stated today.

CANCEL MEETINGS
AT TEMPLE ISRAEL

Due to the present coal shortage, Temple Israel will dispense with services this coming Friday evening. The religious school will also not meet this coming Sunday. Confirmation class, however, will meet in the library of the temple Saturday at 10 a. m. It is announced today.

Maywood, Ill. Stirred By News Prisoners Rescued

CHICAGO, Feb. 1.—(INS)—The village of Maywood, Ill., on the outskirts of Chicago, many of whose sons were among those captured by the Japs in the Philippines, was electrified today by the stirring news that more than 500 had been rescued by American and Philippine commandos.

"God be praised for the message you have been able to bring us this morning," said the Rev. W. Merrifield, former pastor of the Plymouth congregation church in Maywood.

A. C. McCarthy, president of the Maywood Bataan clan, also was told of the daring liberation and expressed equal joy.

He revealed that Adj. Gen. Ugo in Washington had complied with his organization's request to ask Gen. MacArthur to ignore regular channels and use the fastest means of communication in reaching the names of the prisoners freed.

Dr. Merrifield, now a pastor in Urbana, Ill., has a son, 2nd Lt. Jacques Merrifield, who has been held a prisoner on Luzon since the Philippines fell. He said:

"It is more than hundreds of families ever dared hope for, ever dared believe would come to pass."

"Possibly my son may be among them, but if that was not God's will we will wait our turn."

Oppose Mediation By Any Religious Group In Europe

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—(INS)—A declaration in the name of 1,600 Christian ministers and religious leaders, opposing mediation by any religious group in postwar settlement of European political problems, was addressed today to President Roosevelt, Prime Minister Churchill and Marshal Joseph Stalin.

The declaration, made public by Editor Kenneth Leslie of the Protestant, opposes "any attempt under any whatever formula to involve the free Democratic states in any deal in which the Vatican state or its representatives or the representatives of any Protestant or Jewish establishment of religion has a part or place, either as principal or mediator."

Leslie declared "It is basic to democracy that establishments of religion be uninvolved in politics, whether national or international."

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—(INS)—Rep. Adam C. Powell, Jr., D-D. N. Y., disclosed today that he is introducing in congress a bill abolishing "Jim Crowism" in interstate transportation.

The measure, said the Harlem congressman, would invalidate "Jim Crow" laws on trains, buses and boats engaged in interstate transportation.

A similar measure was introduced in 1939 for the first time by former Congressman Arthur W. Mitchell (D-Illinois) but it was not pressed.

Seventy-Three Are Under Sentence On Mutiny Charge

U. S. ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Central Pacific Base Command, Feb. 1.—(INS)—Seventy-three soldiers, with the dubious distinction of being the principals in the first army mutiny trials of the central Pacific area since outbreak of war, were under sentences today of from eight to 30 years of confinement at hard labor.

Charged under the 66th article of war, five of the men were tried as ringleaders who incited and joined the revolt of last July 31. At that time, the men—members of company E, 130th engineers general service regiment—refused to obey orders of superior officers and report for work formations at the Atan airfield on Oahu.

All five were convicted. One was sentenced to 30 years, while another, got 25 years, and both were dishonorably discharged. The remaining three were convicted, however, only on the charge of joining in the action; they were sentenced to 20 years each with dishonorable discharge.

These five were court-martialed after the 69 others were convicted at another sitting of the military board. Though all of this group were found guilty, Maj. Gen. H. T. Burgin—reviewing the cases—ordered one of them retired. Burgin also reduced the sentences of all the other 68, though there was no immediate announcement as to the reason for the leniency extended.

Home On Furlough, Works As Miner

WESTLAND, Pa., Feb. 1.—(INS)—Staff Sgt. George Vincent, a veteran of 26 months and 21 bombing missions in the South Pacific, today feels that he has not done a fair share in winning the war.

Sgt. Vincent of Westland is spending 14 days of his 19-day furlough at his old job working in a coal mine. Not for money, he says, but "to help relieve the coal shortage."

His father, also employed at the Pittsburgh Coal company's Westland mine, told him of the scarcity of miners, so the flier said, "I decided to work while I wasn't fighting."

BELIEVE LABOR DRAFT BILL TO PASS IN HOUSE

By WILLIAM THEIS
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—House leaders today declared the administration's labor draft bill to be "over the hump" and headed for passage after one more major test of dogged opposition strength.

Rep. May (D-Ky.), house military chairman, fully predicted the "work or fight" bill covering men from 18 to 45 will be passed by a two-to-one majority.

Democratic lieutenants who under the leadership of Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex.) beat down attempts to load the bill with amendments yesterday, were conservatively convinced the house will reject two substitute proposals remaining for a vote this afternoon.

They conceded there was "always a chance" that overnight pressure from organized labor and industry—all opposed to the May bill—might switch some votes. But their optimism was supported by the fact that from the opposition corner there were no predictions of defeat for the measure. "We haven't given up" was the opponents' position.

Nine amendments in all were either defeated or ruled out of order in a day of hectic legislative jockeying before the house adjourned to consider today the Harness-Barrett substitute bill. The vote on this proposal to substitute a "voluntary" recruitment system for the May bill was to come first.

Coal Situation Eased Somewhat Official Reports

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 1.—(INS)—Diversion of fuel from Public Utilities and railroads today had eased the domestic coal situation in western Pennsylvania, H. A. Sutter, area distribution manager for the United States solid fuels administration said.

According to Sutter, coal is being diverted from the West Penn Power Company, the Duquesne Light Company and the Pennsylvania Railroad into the coal cellars of Pittsburgh district households. A total of 72 cars was moved into the area, he said.

While the situation in the steel city is definitely better, he explained, many towns in the area are literally scraping the bottom of the coal bin to keep warm.

Keeping western Pennsylvania steel and other war plants operating, and seeing to it that residents don't freeze is only part of his job, Sutter explained. He's in control of the movement of western Pennsylvania coal into Ohio, Michigan, New York and all the New England states, including Maine.

Ever since November, he said, he's been snatching coal wherever he could find it, here and there—"Taking it away from them as has and turning it over to them as hasn't."

Coal Deliveries In Philadelphia Are Curtailed

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 1.—(INS)—Coal deliveries to all places of amusement in Philadelphia were banned today under a state of emergency decree issued by Mayor Bernard Samuel to relieve the Quaker city's critical fuel shortage.

All theaters, dance halls, gymnasiums, arcades, pool rooms, and bowling alleys were included in the restriction. However, night clubs and bar rooms will continue to get coal since they are classified as eating establishments.

If the situation becomes more acute, Mayor Samuel announced libraries, museums, schools and other buildings whose "activities are adjudged to be non-essential" also will be quarantined.

Meanwhile, more than 3300 requests for emergency coal deliveries poured into the offices of the harassed coal dealers.

Elaine Wisecarver In Clutches Of Law

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 1.—(INS)—Mrs. Elaine Wisecarver, 22-year-old mother of two children who eloped to Yuma, Ariz., and married a 14-year-old schoolboy, was held in jail today pending trial for child stealing.

She was jailed after she failed to appear for arraignment. Deputies who went to her house said she locked herself in and that they had to break down the door to get her. The child stealing charge was once dismissed but on appeal by the district attorney's office she was ordered to trial by the district court of appeals.

Her schoolboy bridegroom was Ellsworth Wisecarver. Her marriage to him was annulled some time ago.

So That Nature Can Help Every Man and Woman and Child Have a Better Body

There Is Now Contained In Every Loaf of This Amazing New Wonder Bread DOUBLE The Amount of Milk Proteins For Building and Repairing Body Tissue and DOUBLE the Amount of Milk Minerals for Bone Structure

COSTS NO MORE SO NO REASON NOT TO HAVE...

Costs Us More To Make, But We Charge No More Because We Want To Make A Million New Friends For Wonder Bread

A CHAIN is as strong as its weakest link... your body is as good as the health of its cells. In the young, new cells must develop. In the old, worn-out cells must be rebuilt.

To make flesh and bone Nature uses principally proteins and minerals. Obviously milk must be a good source of these. Or Nature would not use milk to start you off in life.

To bring greater benefits to you and yours, the bakers of Wonder Bread have now DOUBLED the quantity of milk proteins and minerals in the formula to give you this amazing new Wonder Bread.

A GREAT BENEFIT IN WONDER BREAD This costs us more but not you—we want to make a million new friends for Wonder Bread.

NATURE NEEDS MILK CALCIUM FOR BONES AND TEETH
The Human Hand Contains 26 Separate Bones

THE HUMAN HEART BEATS 100,800 TIMES PER DAY TO PUMP 1,064 TO 3,192 GALLONS OF BLOOD (Figures Are Approximate)

Cells of Cardiac Muscle Tissue (Greatly Magnified) Continuously Wear Out. To Replace Worn-Out Cells Nature Depends Largely On Protein.

MILK MINERALS BUILD BONES!

Nothing of concrete and steel rivals the structure of the Human Bone, made of Collagen and Minerals.

MILK PROTEINS GIVE ENERGY!

No machine of steel can rival the human heart—run 70 years without stopping.

COUNTY HOME PER CAPITA
County Controller Andrew W. Dodds, being a "figure fiddler," likes to break down costs into individual units. On Wednesday he broke down the cost of the county home for 1944 and came to the conclusion that the per capita costs for guests in the home was about 80 cents per day. This figure does not include capital investment, nor amortization of building cost. Neither does it include the dairy products and farm products supplied by the county farm.

Milk and eggs come from the dairy, potatoes, tomatoes and other garden produce come from the farm. The cost of producing them is shown in the cost of the home.

RETIREMENT SYSTEM
With the budget about ready for final draft, the matter of a retirement system for all county employees has again been presented to the county commissioners. Supporting their request for the installation of a retirement system the employees point out that social security does not cover governmental em-ment upon the request. They asked a number of questions but made no commitments. The matter is under consideration.

Corsair Planes Are Flying From Carriers

ADM. NIMITZ ADVANCED HEADQUARTERS, Feb. 1.—(Via Navy Radio)—(INS)—Hard-hitting U. S. marine pilots, flying swift-winged Corsair planes, were revealed today to be operating against the Japs from the decks of aircraft carriers for the first time.

The aircraft formed a portion of fighter planes which hit the Philippines, Indo-China, Formosa and the Ryukyu Islands in a series of sweeps beginning January 2.

Go West, Women! But Only To Take Job In War Work

By JANE COCHRAN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 1.—The formerly open-armed west today has paraphrased Horace Greeley's famous advice to say "Go west young woman—but only if you'll take a war job."

And the citizens of the vastly over-crowded Pacific coast, particularly the San Francisco bay region, handed this advice out especially to the wife and family of the Pacific-bound serviceman.

As the war emphasis shifts more and more to the Pacific, workers are needed in ever increasing numbers to speed war materials and the men themselves to the vast reaches of the Pacific. Yet the San Francisco bay region, the port through which more than 50 per cent of the supplies pour out, has reached the saturation point in housing.

Workingmen or women must have a place to live. But each non-working wife of a serviceman in the Philippines or the Palau, who came west with her husband to spend those last few days before his embarkation and remained to wait for his return, deprives at least one worker of a place to live in the packed bay area.

Difficult Problem
High war manpower officials admit the problem of non-working service wives is one of the most difficult they face in trying to get the 19,000 workers now urgently needed in the bay area, and the uncounted number who must be employed after "V-E" day. But they're as quick to pay tribute to the ones who have taken war jobs, saying they are doing, in the main, an excellent job—often under trying conditions. They urgently appeal to each war wife who can to get—and keep—a war job.

As a San Francisco resident of only three months duration assigned here because of the Pacific coast's and the Pacific's increasing importance in the news of the world at war, I can feelingly describe the problem of new war workers in San Francisco.

Only sheerest luck will find you an apartment or house, and it's usually high on a hill, blocks from a bus or streetcar stop. Grocers will deliver only twice a week—if at all—and always on the days you don't have off. Cleaners and laundries post signs saying "no new customers taken." Cleaning women are mere dreams of the past and essential shopping of all kinds is a day-to-day crisis.

Problem More Acute
For women with children, the problem is even more acute. One of the San Francisco region's most difficult problems during the early days of the war was that of child care centers. While tremendous progress has been made, the situation is still a problem.

But the 10 counties which comprise the bay area have reason to be proud of their women and the work they've done. More than 105,000 of them, representing 28 per cent of the total workers, are now employed in the area. Over 20 per cent of the shipbuilding workers are women, the highest of any section of the country. Women make up as high as 75 per cent of the communications workers, and even in the heavier industries—such as lumber, trucking and warehousing—they number about 12 per cent of the employees.

Women Workers Needed
"We have an urgent need for women in laundry, cleaning and restaurant work," Sam Kagle, war manpower commissioner for Northern California, pointed out.

"And the greatest need is for women in clerical positions . . . these will increase as the army, navy and marines do more and more shipping to the Pacific and records of these shipments must be compiled."

War manpower officials, pointing out they now need 19,000 workers in the area, also add that there is continuous replacement problem. The turnover of workers is about eight per cent—meaning that a plant must replace its entire staff once a year.

More than 97,000 family dwelling units have been constructed since the war in the bay area under the national house administration as well as over 17,000 dormitory accommodations for single men and women.

But San Francisco region's twin problems still remain: "How to get a place to live and a package of cigarettes to smoke!"

Buses Cancel

Northbound Trips

Because of drifted snow blocking the route between New Wilmington and Sharon in Mercer county, the West Ridge buses are not getting through today, according to Mrs. Rebecca Crawford of the New Castle bus depot.

Harmony line buses will probably go no further than New Wilmington until the road to Sharon is opened.

CRUSH NAZI CITIES

BUTTE, Mont.—(INS)—"German cities must be pulverized by every available destructive weapon the Allies can command," according to Col. Howard E. Pulliam, military observer, who spoke at a recent University of Montana convocation.

During the past three years he has served with American armies in Italy, France, Bougainville, and Attu, where he earned the Purple Heart and Croix de Guerre. Col. Pulliam said that he believes crushing physical defeat is the only means of bringing the war home to the Nazi hordes.

LOT IN COMMON
PUEBLO, Colo.—(INS)—Lt. Bill Franks of New York introduced himself to his new co-pilot. "My name is Franks," he said. The co-pilot answered, "And my name is Franks." He is Bob Franks of Spokane, Wash. The two men compared notes and found that they had brothers in the army with identical names—John S. Franks. Bill's brother is on Leyte with the infantry and Bob's is a B-25 navigator in New Guinea.

RETURN WAR DOGS
NEW YORK.—(INS)—Dogs for defense, Inc. in the three years since March, 1942 has delivered more than 17,000 dogs to the Armed Services, it was announced today at the National Headquarters, New York City. As the requirements for dogs have tremendously decreased since March 1st, 1945, cease procurement and will devote its efforts to the placement in proper homes of the surplus war dogs.

Sees Japs Using Rocket Planes

Assistant Secretary Of Navy For Air Sees U. S. Retaining Superiority

By RALPH B. JORDAN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

PEARL HARBOR, Feb. 1.—Arthur H. Gates, assistant navy secretary for air, was confident today that American aerial superiority will continue even if the Japs—as he believes they may—resort to the use of rocket planes.

In a news conference upon his return from an extensive inspection tour of the region from the Solomons to the Philippines, the government official pointed out that the Japanese are working feverishly and successfully to better their aircraft.

Jap Planes Improve

"The Japanese," Gates explained, "are improving their planes and the margin of our superiority is now less. As we get nearer to Japan, there is no doubt but what the enemy will use new types of interceptors."

German information is accessible to them and there is no reason why they can't go in for rocket planes the same as the Nazis have. German technicians as well as German information are at their command.

Declaring that the Japs are "constantly bringing out better planes," Gates said that during the last year the American superiority in planes being produced "has been shrinking."

"They (the Japs) not only have better planes but more of them to throw against us, and they'll build airfields as they need them, the same as we do."

"However, we're improving, too, and we will have some new type planes to counter the Japs' improvements. We'll still be superior, I think," he asserted.

ANTS FLAVORED SALAD

West Coast American Indians, to flavor their "miner's lettuce," placed the plant near a nest of red ants. The salad acquired a vinegar taste from the formic acid left by the ants running over the leaves.

Bank Deposits In U. S. Are Greatly Expanded

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—A large expansion in bank deposits in 1944, reflecting United States war financing activities and piling up of funds by individuals and corporations was reported today by The American Banker.

At the end of the year the country's 14,500 banks had on deposit an estimated $138,000,000,000, compared with $118,336,000,000 at the end of 1943 and $44,000,000,000 at the end of 1932, the depression low point, the publication said.

Money on deposit in the 300 largest commercial banks of the country totaled $81,974,595,900, an increase of more than $12,000,000,000 over the 1943 year-end total of $69,583,768,500.

House Leaders To Speed Legislation

Four Emergency Tax Measures Are Reported; Other Action At Session Today

By JAMES H. SMITH
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

HARRISBURG, Feb. 1.—Republican House leaders indicated the barrier to major legislation would be lifted to speed the 1945 session of the general assembly when the administration's bill continuing the taxes on cigarettes, liquor, gross receipts and corporate net incomes were reported to the floor for action in the House Wednesday.

Budget officials have estimated the four emergency taxes, first imposed 10 years ago, will net the commonwealth approximately $150,000,000 during the 1945-47 biennium starting June 1.

The measure earmarking the extra one liquid fuels tax for distribution among counties to enable local authorities slash real estate levies also was given a favorable recommendation by the Ways and Means committee.

Recess To Monday

Both houses recessed shortly before noon Wednesday until Monday.

A three-day legislative week was in prospect for members when they returned to the state capital but GOP leaders did not foresee the possibility of extending the legislative week for another month.

The general assembly broke all records for passing the initial legislation during a session when the Senate unanimously consented to a House-approved bill authorizing the department of revenue to issue one automobile license plate for not longer than two years after the end of the war. One tag has been used in Pennsylvania since 1944 plates were issued by the department.

The House also received from committee a measure approving a 60-day extension of the deadline on automobile inspections.

In the Senate, Sen. Edward J. Coleman (D) Lackawanna introduced a bill which would permit kin holding the power of attorney for servicemen and women to sign affidavits accompanying the petitions of candidates for public offices.

Coleman admitted the measure was designed to safeguard the post of Lt. Col. T. Linus Hoban, Scranton jurist, reported missing in action in Strasburg late in December.

Pfc. Albert Porter Wounded In Belgium

Pfc. Albert Porter of Wampum, was slightly wounded in Belgium on January 15, according to a telegram received from the war department by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Porter, of Wampum. Pfc. Porter, with the Infantry in Belgium, is now hospitalized in that country.

He has been in army service for five years, having served for three years in the Panama Canal zone before assignment overseas in the European theater last August.

DEAD MAN WINS POOL ON WAR END

WITH THE U. S. THIRD ARMY, Feb. 1.—When American Third Army correspondents made up a pool on the European war's end back in the bright days of last August, 20 picked dates sometime in 1944.

The man to pick the latest date was Tom Treanor, Los Angeles Times and N. B. C. correspondent, who a short time later was injured fatally when a tank crushed a jeep in which he was riding. He picked Jan. 28, 1945.

Today the correspondents sent Mrs. Treanor the $210 won by her husband's forecast.

Canada-U. S. In Agreement

Reach Basis For Settlement On Disposal Of U. S. De- fense Facilities In Canada

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—(INS)—Terms of a U.S.-Canadian agreement for the disposal of defense facilities installed by this country in Canada for prosecution of the war, including air fields and the Alaskan military highway, were disclosed by the War Department.

Based on the recommendation of the permanent joint board on defense, the agreement provides for the appointment of joint appraisers for immovable installations who will establish a fair market value for them.

Within three months after the agreement comes into force the United States will supply Canada with a list of immovable facilities which it wishes to bring under the agreement. If the appraisers appointed by each government cannot agree on a fair price a third appraiser is to be appointed to determine the value.

Canada will pay the amount fixed but where it will have to assume costs by returning or disposing of a facility, such as charges for custody or demolition, these costs are to be taken into consideration in the final accounting.

Some Not Listed
Facilities not listed by the United States as for sale within one year after the end of hostilities are to be relinquished without cost.

Movable materials are provided for in a separate section which permits the United States to remove all these items it desires. Canada then will arrange to purchase whatever remaining articles it wishes for that government's use or disposition. All others remaining will be transferred to a designated agency of the Canadian government for disposal with proceeds, less cost, to be paid to the United States.

The United States will be represented by an officer who will have an equal voice in all details of sale including the setting of prices and the assessment of sales costs.

Outright purchases made by the Canadian government or its departments will be solely for use in furthering the war effort, it is provided, and the Canadian government does not intend to make direct purchases for any purposes unassociated with the war effort.

Top Egg Prices For Week Announced

Ceiling prices on eggs are being continued this winter because of a slight scarcity, the Price Panel Board announced this morning in giving the wholesale and retail prices on grades A and B eggs for the week of February 1 to February 8.

Retail prices in group I stores, the smaller independent stores, are slightly higher than in group II stores, the larger independent stores. Groups III and IV stores, the chain stores and the independent stores which do a business of over $250,000, compute their prices under mark-ups given in price regulation 422, the board said.

Prices on extra-large grade A eggs, which weigh 26 ounces a dozen, or more, are: wholesale, 46½ cents; group I stores, 57 cents; and group II stores, 56 cents. Large grade A eggs, which weigh 24 ounces a dozen or more, sell at: wholesale, 45½ cents; group I stores, 54 cents; group II stores, 53 cents.

Medium grade A eggs, which weigh 21 ounces a dozen or more are: wholesale, 42½ cents; group I stores, 50 cents; group II stores, 49 cents. Small grade A eggs, which weigh 18 ounces or more, have ceilings of: wholesale, 38½ cents; group I stores, 46 cents; group II stores, 45 cents.

Extra-large and large grade B eggs have ceilings of: wholesale, 41½ cents; group I stores, 50 cents; group II stores, 49 cents. Ceilings on medium and small grade B eggs are the same as on small grade A. Ceiling prices on eggs will change a little on February 9, the board said.

Slippery Rock Man Prisoner Of Japs

SLIPPERY ROCK, Pa., Feb. 1.—According to the first word received from the soldier since the Japanese attack on the Philippines in 1941 and the early part of 1942, Hugh Cooper, former Slippery Rock resident, is a prisoner of the Japanese. The letter was sent to his sister, Mrs. Harry Martin.

More Air Attacks In Iwo Jima, Jap Pacific Air Base

ADMIRAL NIMITZ ADVANCED HEADQUARTERS, Feb. 1.—(INS)—Air attacks from Iwo Jima, in the Volcano Islands to the Palaus, east of the Philippines, were announced today by Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz.

In a raid on Iwo Jima January

30 by Army Liberators, three enemy interceptors rose to the attack and one was reported damaged. Other attacks were made against Woleai and Yap in the western Carolines and against Babelthup, largest of the Palau Islands.

Army bombers also carried out the attack against Woleai, January 30, hitting airstrip installations while Avenger torpedo planes of the Fourth Aircraft Wing destroyed a building and smashed harbor installations at Yap on the following day.

YOUNG WOMAN FOILS ROBBERS

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—(INS)—The deadlier of the species was calm today after she foiled two gunmen who had some foolish notion about relieving her of a $5,000 payroll.

When 20-year-old Grace Lichenstein 5 feet 6 inches, 125 pounds, was approached by two armed men as she walked along a midtown building's hallway, they demanded her payroll.

"I will not," she said staunchly. When they asked again she repeated her no, and said, as they grabbed: "Oh, no you don't!"—and tucked the dough in her coat.

More chit-chat followed with Miss Lichenstein more than holding her own and the gunmen getting more desperate and increasingly hot under the collar. Finally they fled, alarmed by Miss Lichenstein's luster calls for help.

"I just presumed they wouldn't harm me," she said calmly.

MEMORIAL ROUTE PLANNED
HARRISBURG, Feb. 1.—(INS)—A resolution calling upon the state highways department to designate a route as the "Anthony Wayne Memorial Highway" in honor of the Revolutionary War General was before the house today.

The resolution, co-sponsored by Reps. Benjamin F. James (R) Delaware, and Perry E. Wright (D) Greene, would designate August 3 "Anthony Wayne Day" in honor of the 150th anniversary of the treaty of Greenville which ended Indian hostilities following the Revolutionary War. It was referred to the house highways committee.

BEND, Ore.—(INS)—Having your toes stepped on wouldn't hurt at a recent Bend high school dance. When the coach said he was afraid that shoes and gum would spoil the highly polished floor on which the Bears play basketball and the students whirl lightly, a stocking dance was proposed. Students arrived in brightly-hued stockings and socks parked their gum in envelopes and took off their shoes.

Truck Driver Has Confessed Attack

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill., Feb. 1.—(INS)—Ray Baugh, 33-year-old truck driver, confessed today, authorities said, he had criminally attacked one of two Detroit, Mich., girls whom he had given a ride on their way to St. Louis, Mo.

Baugh, who is married and the father of two daughters, was driving a load of hogs when he picked up two Detroit girls, Phyllis E. Drouillard, 16, and Beverly Darlene Balaunt, 18, late yesterday.

State police said that when Baugh attacked the younger girl, Miss Balaunt leaped from the truck, ran to a telephone and notified authorities. The other girl escaped later and ran more than a mile to a filling station where she also reported the attack before collapsing.

CARE, REPAIR, SHARE ALL
FARM MACHINERY

All farm machinery needs care and repair, and may have to be shared during the 1945 crop season. With the exception of tractors, production of new machinery available for use this year, is running 20 to 25 per cent behind last year's output. Spring tools and implements requiring heavy castings are farthest behind in production schedules.

The situation will place even greater emphasis on labor-saving devices which can be made now, so they will be ready for use this spring and summer. In view of the existing situation, the wise farmer will check over and repair every old machine he can possibly keep in operation.

Supplies of parts for replacement have provided a fairly good stock, and production of these pieces has been moving at a high rate this year.

PLANS NECESSARY FOR KITCHEN REMODELING

Some of today's kitchens which reflect the aging work of grand-mother's day are being brought up to date. Other kitchens which are not arranged for the best work may be given similar treatment.

Whether it is simply a rearrangement of equipment or complete remodeling of the kitchen, first consideration is given to achieve a room that will be time and step-saving, easy to clean, and a room that will be a pleasure in which to work and live.

Modern kitchens contain three centers of operation: food storage and preparation center; food cooking center; and sink and dishwashing center. These centers are grouped to form the most convenient, practical working arrangement usually in one section of the kitchen. Two popular shaped work units are the L shape and the U shape. These allow other sections of the room to be used for a dining center.

A continuous work surface or center that connects the stove, sink, and refrigerator is desirable in the up-to-date kitchen. There should be enough working space between the units for the work to be done conveniently.

For maximum convenience, the sink generally is placed between the refrigerator and the stove with counter surface at each end of the sink. The food preparation may be next to the refrigerator. For the right-handed person, dishwashing is done from right to left. This makes the space between the sink and the range the handiest for storing dishes.

Food, staple supplies, and utensils are kept nearest the place where they are used and are within easy reach.

ADJUST PRUNING PROGRAM TO LABOR SITUATION

Unfavorable weather and the labor shortage have combined to retard normal pruning work in orchards of this county. Because the usual amount of work cannot be completed before the spring growth starts, orchard-men should adjust the program to get the greatest returns.

Certain trees may go without pruning this year with little or no harmful results. This includes apple trees which were well pruned last year, where only vigorous water sprouts need removal. Trees which bear in alternate years, like York, Baldwin, and Wealthy, pruning is most necessary only in the winter preceding the heavy crop year.

Young trees need not be pruned more than is necessary to provide a sound frame. Young bearing trees will produce good marketable fruit even when the branches are close together, and may often be left unpruned. Older trees usually need more attention, but planning can reduce the time spent on each tree.

Pruning operation can be streamlined. Bottom limbs that fail to carry fruit clear of the ground, or produce poor quality, can be cut easily. Some trees, so high they make thinning and harvesting difficult, expensive and dangerous, can be headed back with a few, well-placed cuts that reduce their height without exposing the center to sunscald.

Large, broken branches should be removed in all cases. A few well-placed and large cuts will thin out the rest of the tree, keeping in mind that the more drooping branches bear the least and poorest fruit.

With peaches pruning is almost a necessity each year. But here, too, a hurry-up job can be done. Time can be saved by avoiding trimming little spurs that are nearly dead anyhow. Do not shear off ends of each of last year's shoots, since it is only a waste of valuable time and effort.

URGE WOMEN TO KEEP ON CONSERVING CLOTHING

Homemakers are urged to continue their splendid job of conserving clothing, for it still is important to conserve materials.

It is wise to check and recheck the family wardrobe. Many children are happy wearing garments made from clothing that adults can no longer wear. Mothers are especially careful to see that colors are becoming to the child wearing the made-over garment.

Not only are homemakers making over clothes for their children, but they are making many of their own clothes wear longer. Women add a new accessory to make a slight change in a dress to give it a little more zip. Often they combine two old garments and come out with something entirely new and different.

What are they doing with the scraps left from these made-overs? Many women use the odds and ends of wool to make warm mittens and bedroom slippers for the children or themselves. Some women have used a commercial pattern for the mittens, other have used an old mitten as a guide. They find that making the lining and the outer mittens separate shortens the drying period. Scraps of wool flannel are excellent for warm slippers and bed shoes.

FUEL SHORTAGE HITS SCHOOLS

FRANKLIN, Pa., Feb. 1.—(INS)—Due to the fuel shortage, assemblies in the Franklin high school auditorium today have been counted out for the next two months, the school board announced.

When basketball games are played in the gym, the board said, spectators will wear their coats and take the weather conditions "as they are."

In pressing boys' trousers, each time the damp cloth is removed, while the goods are still steaming, lay a double sheet of newspaper on the garment and rub over it with a hot iron. This procedure dries the cloth and leaves a firm press which holds much longer than usual.

1776 is well known as the year in which the thirteen states of the Union broke their colonial allegiance to Great Britain. The essence of the Declaration of Independence was the expression of the desire for freedom of the individual in speech, worship and personal accomplishment. Men today are struggling once more to insure that freedom so necessary to our happiness. Here in America a man wins success by earning it... he climbs the steep ladder of success with the knowledge that he will be free to enjoy the fruits of his own accomplishments. Freedom of enterprise means more than ever today. Farms and industry are topping all production records in spite of critical shortages. The electric industry, too, is playing a large part in the all-out effort. Freedom is the spirit of America... let's hold on to it!

Lost School Time
Must Be Made Up

School Board Will Probably Decide
On Program At Meeting
This Evening

Plans for the making up of days lost in the public schools due to the coal shortage will probably be discussed tonight by the New Castle School Board when it meets in special session. Under the school code the public schools must be in session 180 days of the year. Days lost by the system as a whole must be made up.

Several suggestions have come from citizens as to how the days should be made up. One is that the Easter vacation be eliminated and that school be held on sufficient Saturdays to make up the loss. With the manpower shortage a pressing question, the sooner the schools dismiss for the summer vacation the better, for industries can use many of the teachers and the older boys in the senior high school.

An intensified campaign of education in safe and sensible use of firearms, conducted by conservation divisions, has greatly reduced the number of fatalities during recent hunting periods. Cooperation of many of the conservation and farm youth organizations, the newspapers and radio commentators, were especially helpful and effective in the campaign.

Cathedral Closing
Affects Many Groups

Coal Shortage Has Curtailed Activities Of Many Organizations
Housed In Big Building

There is an old saying that "you never miss the water until the well runs dry," and this has been found to be true with the closing of many public buildings in the city because of the recent coal embargo, caused by the cold wave which crippled transportation.

One of the buildings which is affected the most is the big Scottish Rite Cathedral on the North Hill.

Here are housed some 20 Masonic lodges, besides other groups who customarily meet in the building. The Red Cross surgical dressing classes which have met there have also been forced to suspend operations temporarily because of the closing, and the big auditorium and dining room, used for public gatherings and dinners of a large nature, will be unable to use this favorite spot until things return to normal.

Loss of the use of the structure is being keenly felt. The largest racial groups among the Filipinos are the Tagalogs, 3-325,000 of whom live in central Luzon; the Visayans, 7,100,000 of whom live in the central and southern islands and the Ilocanos of northern Luzon.

Charges Waste
In Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 1.—(INS)—Due to lack of coordination by various departments in planning trips, waste in gasoline and equipment by Pittsburgh officials was charged today by OPA District Mileage Conservation Head W. H. Stryker. "City officials have never set up the central mileage plan that has been coordinating the travel routes of county, state and federal workers since the summer of 1942," he said. New York City, in 1944, he pointed out, was able to cut its mileage 40 per cent from that of 1941—a saving of 43 million miles—while Pittsburgh, although much smaller, has not made any comparative savings.

TRUCK HELPER DIES
PITTSBURGH, Feb. 1.—(INS)—George L. Stoker, 43, a truck helper, was pronounced dead of a heart attack today after he collapsed while unloading merchandise on the north side, the coroner reported.

Prisoners In Germany Moved From War Front

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 1.—Prisoners of war camps in the path of the present Soviet advance were moved toward the center of Germany several weeks ago, Red Cross Chairman Basil O'Connor announced today. The February Prisoner of War Bulletin carries the stories of these movements.

Three camps containing American and British prisoners of war were known to be located between Poznan and Torun in Poland, and official word of the movement of one of these, Stalag-357, was sent to Geneva in December. It is taken for granted that the two others, Stalag XX A and Oflag-64, will also have been moved. The two nearest Torun held chiefly British prisoners, but Oflag 64 contained at least a thousand Americans. A number of other large camps for British and Americans lie in the path of the present advance.

Red Cross officials state that there is undoubtedly confusion when hurried attempts are made to move large bodies of men who first have to be collected from work detachments widely scattered from the base camp. It is known that much hardship was suffered by British and American airmen who were moved last summer from Stalag Luft-VI through northern Prussia to Stalag Luft-IV. These men will probably now have to be moved again. Provision has been made to send emergency Red Cross supplies to camps where the men may be taken in Germany, and also to supply those who may be liberated by the Soviet armies.

NOTED MUSICIAN DIES

LONG BEACH, Cal., Feb. 1.—(INS)—Dr. Herbert L. Clarke, one of the world's great cornet players, was dead today at the age of 77. Dr. Clarke made three world tours as cornet soloist with John Philip Sousa's band and for 20 years was director of the Long Beach municipal band. He never took a music lesson.

Jesus' Concern for All

The Golden Text

Calling of Matthew.

"A friend loveth at all times."—Proverbs 17:17.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

(The International Uniform Lesson for Feb. 4 is Matthew 8-9, the memory verse being Proverbs 17:17, "A friend loveth at all times.")

The two chapters assigned us for today's lesson are a record for 10 miracles performed by Jesus as He "went about doing good."
"When He came down from the mountain," we read, "great multitudes followed Him." Among the multitudes was a leper, who came and worshiped Jesus, saying, "Lord, if Thou wilt, Thou canst make me clean." A leper's life was a wretched one in those days. He had to tell anyone he met of his condition and no one would go near him for fear of being defiled. Jesus, however, "put forth His hand and touched him, saying, I will; be thou clean. And immediately his leprosy was healed."

Jesus went to Capernaum and a centurion—a captain of 100 Roman soldiers—came to him saying that his servant was very ill of palsy, and Jesus said He would go and heal him. The centurion answered that he was not worthy that the Lord should visit his home, but if Jesus would only speak the word, he knew his servant would be healed.

ed. He must have been a very kind-hearted man to have been so concerned about his servant.

Jesus marveled at the faith of this Roman, and to the centurion He said, "Go thy way; and as thou hast believed, so be it done unto thee." That very hour his servant was healed.

Heals Peter's Mother

Jesus went to Peter's house and there found Peter's mother sick with fever. Jesus took her by the hand, the fever left her, and she arose and ministered unto them. A certain scribe came to Jesus and said, "Master, I will follow Thee whithersoever Thou goest." Jesus' answer to him was, "The foxes have holes, and the birds of the air have nests; but the Son of man hath not where to lay His head."

Jesus and His disciples entered a ship, and the Lord, being weary, slept. A storm arose, so great that the fishermen on board, used as they were to battling the tempests, were frightened and awoke the Master. He chided them for their lack of faith, and rebuked the waves and winds, and straightway there was a great calm. "What manner of man is this, that even the winds and the sea obey Him?" the disciples asked one another.

Arriving on the other side they were met by two men who were possessed of fierce devils. These evil spirits recognized the Lord and called to Him, "What have we to do with Thee, Jesus, thou Son of God? Art Thou come to torment us before the time?" They then begged Him that if He cast them out to let them go into a herd of swine near by, which was done, and the swine raced down hill into the sea and were drowned.

One would think everyone would have been so glad that the two men were restored to sanity that they wouldn't have minded the loss of the swine, but, when Jesus and His followers came to the city the whole population came out to meet them—and begged Him to depart out of their coast!

Jesus, therefore, entered the ship and came to His own city and there healed a man sick with palsy, but some scribes whispered to one another that He blasphemed. The multitudes, however, glorified God at the man's recovery.

Jesus Calls Matthew

Jesus passed by a man sitting at the seat of customs—a hated tax gatherer, and said, "Follow me," and Matthew, the writer of this gospel, arose and followed.

Now many people followed Jesus and ate with Him, and the Pharisees, seeing this, asked the disciples why their Master ate with publicans and sinners. Jesus answered them by saying that "They that be whole need not a physician, but they that are sick." He told them to be merciful, "for I am not come to call the righteous, but sinners to repentance."

A ruler came and mourned that his daughter "is even now dead; but come and lay Thy hand upon her, and she shall live."

On his way, a woman who had been ill for many years got near enough to touch the hem of His garment, thinking she would be healed by her touch. Jesus saw her and said, "Daughter, be of good comfort; thy faith hath made thee whole." And she went away cured.

The ruler's daughter appeared to be dead, but Jesus took her by the hand and the maid arose. On His way from the ruler's house He was followed by two blind men, and then he healed. Jesus told them to tell no one, but they "spread abroad His fame," and some brought Him a man possessed with a dumb devil, whom He also relieved.

BABY KNOWS

Baby is young. He has not had much experience. He comes from a long line of ancestors. He inherits many things. He knows a lot more than he usually gets credit for knowing.

He knows something about feeding. He knows when he is hungry and usually advertises his hunger.

He knows when he has enough and also when he wants more. He is the only one who knows when he is hungry and the only one who knows when he has taken enough food.

Breast feeding is his natural way. He takes what he wants and no one else knows how much. He enjoys it and if everything is in good condition he appears satisfied.

It may be necessary for him to be bottle fed. It is perhaps better that he be cuddled while he takes his bottle. Mother can probably do it better but Dad should take his turn.

Baby may not like pencils and buttons as well as the softer places which mother has for his head.

Baby needs Dad and Mother both.

Personal attention and a lot of loving are good things for baby.

HANG IN AIR

If the clothes closet isn't well ventilated, it is a good idea to hang suits and dresses in the open air for a few minutes before putting in closet. From time to time give suits an outdoor airing.

Employ 50 Men At Closed Track

CAMDEN, N. J., Feb. 1.—(INS)—Despite the ban on horse-racing to conserve manpower, more than 50 men currently are employed at Camden State track on the outskirts of Camden, it was learned Wednesday. A. E. Lilley, manager of Camden's

War Manpower Commission office, said it was necessary to retain the men for the upkeep of the property and "to prevent the equipment from going to pieces."

WMC officials are studying the situation, he said, but no action is expected for several weeks.

Mail Carrier Dies Trying To Shovel Self Out Of Snow

John Charles Yoho Of R. D. 1, Wampum, Succumbs From Heart Attack Wednesday Afternoon

John Charles Yoho, aged 59 years, of R. D. 1, Wampum, rural mail carrier, died of a heart attack early Wednesday afternoon, while trying to shovel himself out of a snow drift in Wayne township, while delivering mail.

Mr. Yoho, who has carried the mail on R. D. 1, Wampum for the past 25 years, was well known throughout the lower section of Lawrence county. He was the son of John D. and Lydia Robberman Yoho, and had spent his entire life in the county. He was a member of the Chevon Christian church and taught the young married people bible class. He had been an elder of the church for 24 years.

He is survived by his wife, Pearl Ritchie Yoho, one daughter, Mrs. Bernice Hennon, two granddaughters and the following sisters and brothers: Mrs. Floyd Cain, Fairmont, W. Va., Mrs. Paul Lutton, Hookstown, Pa., and Clyde and Ross Yoho, of Hookstown, Pa., and Clarence Yoho of New Castle-Elwood City road.

The body has been removed to his home. Funeral services will take place at 2:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon from the First Christian church of Chevon, in charge of the pastor, Rev. Charles Durbin. Burial will be in Slippery Rock cemetery.

Rich or Poor?

JACK CURTISS, 22-year-old discharged Army sergeant of Fayetteville, Ark., has announced an inheritance of approximately $2,000,000 from a British cousin. Curtiss, who is now in New York City awaiting shipment to Asia to join the Chinese Army, said he was "half dazed thinking about it." His mother, however, scoffed at the story, saying that she knew of no relatives of theirs at all in England.

Allied Landing Craft Operating West Of Leyte

LONDON, Feb. 1.—(INS)—The Jap Domei agency reported today that Allied landing craft were operating west of Leyte island in the Philippines and the planes of the Nipponese air force had attacked several of the vessels in the Camotes sea.

There was no Allied confirmation of the enemy report.

At the western side of the Camotes sea opposite American-held Leyte lies the island of Cebu while to the south is the island of Bohol. Both Cebu and Bohol still are held by the Japanese.

TWO SMALL FIRES ARE REPORTED HERE

City firemen answered two alarms to small fires Wednesday. Fire Chief James E. Thomas reported today.

At 10:35 p. m. Second ward firemen were called out to extinguish a fire in the auto of Harold Sampson, of 209 Meyer avenue, caused by a short circuit in the wiring. Damage of $100 resulted.

Earlier they were summoned to 615 Superior street, where a hole in a chimney-hole cover, which had been papered over, allowed flame from burning soot to come through. Damage of around $10 resulted. Firemen from Fourth ward department extinguished the blaze.

Fair Employment Move Is Favored

HARRISBURG, Feb. 1.—(INS)—Gov. Edward Martin threw his support today behind a proposed "fair employment practices commission" but favored delegation of duties to an existing agency such as the State Labor Relations board.

"I favor the general idea but I don't like the idea of the extra expense," he said at his news conference. "I want to curtail government instead of increasing it."

Three bills have been introduced in the general assembly to establish a F. E. P. C. A measure which appeared to have the inside track was sponsored by Rep. Homer S. Brown (D) Allegheny, and would set up a five member commission covering both employers and labor unions.

Governor Martin estimated enactment of the Brown bill would cost the state $300,000 during the first year of operation.

Grandma Goes To Work In Shipyard

PORTLAND, Ore. — (INS)—Grandma doesn't sit by the fire and knit out Portland way—she works in a shipyard.

At least that's the impression some folks got when 73 grandmothers at the Kaiser company's Swan Island shipyard got together for a luncheon.

Many of them wore heavy shipyard boots and thick jackets that contrasted mightily with the usual picture of granny as a frail little mite with a shawl about her shoulders. The grandmothers ranged in age from 40 to 66 and had seven, nine, 11 or 12 children—one had 13 children of her own.

TWO U. S. ARMIES ARE DRIVING INTO SIEGFRIED LINE

Rhone-Rhin canal and east of Colmar enlarged their bridgehead south of the Colmar canal to a depth of three miles.

Battle Stubbornly

Along the south side of the Colmar pocket the Germans defending Cernay and Wittelsheim battled stubbornly against the Allied forces. Headquarters revealed that during the past 48 hours the French had captured some 2,500 Germans and killed more than 5,000.

With American forces east of the smashed Ardennes bulge battle area probing into the outer defenses of the Siegfried line, a dispatch from headquarters of Field Marshal Sir Bernard L. Montgomery said that the Germans show every sign of attempting to hold the Siegfried defenses.

"There is no evidence they are pulling back from the line," a headquarters spokesman said. He added that a withdrawal from the Westwall defenses probably would be the last thing the Germans would do.

Gains of up to three miles were scored on several sectors by the Americans pushing eastward from Belgium into the Reich.

In the area between Monschau and St. Vith, the American 78th Division cleared the towns of Eicherscheid, Kesternach, Hufenbroich, Immenbroich and Widdau. During the past two days the Yanks captured 500 Germans.

Move Through Deep Snow

The Americans moved east through deep snow, encountering occasional minefields.

East and southeast of St. Vith the towns of Setz, Schillerbach and Lommersweiler were captured and the town of Steffeshausen was cleared of the enemy.

Third Army bridgehead forces across the Our river repulsed a German infantry counter-attack east of Weisswampach and advanced one and one-half miles northeast to Welchenhausen.

Gains by the troops under command of Lieut. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges and Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton were matched in the south by American-supported units of the First French Army which closed in on the pivotal base of Colmar, south of Strasbourg.

French Close In

In the battling around Colmar the French closed in on the town from the east, with spearheads approaching Andelsheim and Urschenheim. The Allied threat to Colmar was important in that severance of the main road to Breisack would gravely imperil German troops on the western edge of the Colmar bulge and prevent them from receiving reinforcement.

The gains by the French following repulse of Nazi offensive thrusts north of Strasbourg caused the enemy threat to the city of Strasbourg itself to disappear.

Unless the Germans reduced their commitments in Italy, it was felt, and still further deplete their Norwegian garrisons, Nazi units on the Western Front most likely will be forced to remain strictly on the defensive. Some quarters felt that in view of reports of the transfer of German forces from Norway the Nazi high command was keeping only sufficient troops in southern Norway to maintain U-boat bases there.

Yank First Army forces operating in the area east of St. Vith in Belgium cleared Nazi remnant forces from the towns of Setz, Schillerbach, Heum, Brietfeld Neidingen, Atzerath and Rodgen.

WITH FIRST FRENCH ARMY FORCES, Feb. 1.—(INS)—French First Army troops today occupied the towns of Gerstein and Obenheim, 15 miles south of Strasbourg.

French and American forces occupied Horbore, a suburb of Colmar east of the Ill river, and also captured Durrenreitzen and Urscheinheim.

Southeast of Selestat, Allied troops occupied Heidsheim, Obenheim and Elsenheim.

'Gibson Girl' Saves
Yankee Flyer's Life

A 7TH AAF HEAVY BOMBER BASE IN THE PALAUS.—(INS)—Sergeant Bill Devlin of Portsmouth, Ohio, a 7th AAF Liberator waist-gunner, has a new love.

She is the curvaceous "Gibson Girl," the portable emergency radio transmitter, so called because of its ample feminine form.

Sergeant Devlin says he fell in love with this model when one sustained him for 18 hours in shark-infested waters, after his bomber, returning from a successful raid on the Philippines, was forced down 100 miles from its home base.

"Boy, I sure hugged that Gibson girl as hard as I ever hugged my wife," he said. "And she didn't let me down, either!"

Unable to reach a floating raft after his bomber sank, Sergeant Devlin was going under the water when he clutched something solid. It was the floating radio transmitter.

"It was love at first sight," he said. He grabbed the Gibson girl and hung on. That's how his "heavy date" began.

The night was on. What with high seas and sharks homing in, it was a stormy affair. "The old girl had a tendency to bob and turn in a drifting course," said Sergeant Devlin, "and I had to struggle to keep above water level. Still without her . . ."

COAL MINER PRAISED
HARRISBURG, Feb. 1.—(INS)—Coal miner Louis Polin of Cherry Tree, was praised today by Gov. Edward Martin for loading 4,862 tons of coal last year without aid.

The chief executive said he was informed Polin loaded 17 tons of coal a day last year—enough fuel to fill 96 fifty-ton freight cars.

Polin, an employee of the Cherry Tree Coal Mining Company, worked 297 days last year.

Improper treatment of accident victims may result in added injury even death.

Floor Officials Organize Here At Session In 'Y'

Raymond J. Nolte, President Of New Castle Chapter Of P. I. A. A. Officials

ORGANIZATION TO FUNCTION HERE

New Castle chapter of P.I.A.A. basketball officials of District Seven became a reality here last night at the "Y" as members of the P.I.A.A. from Lawrence county met and formed a permanent organization. Ray Nolte of 712 Brooklyn avenue, veteran official, was chosen as president.

Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner of New Castle high acted as temporary chairman of the meeting, and Charles P. "Bugs" Walther, assistant sports editor of The News, acted as temporary secretary. Gardner presented in behalf of Mark Funk, president of the W.P.I.A.A., in stating the organization meeting. Gardner outlined to the men present the purpose of the organization and what the P.I.A.A. is trying to do to better conditions for accredited basketball and football officials in the various state districts. The officials through the organization can get a better interpretation of rules and rule changes.

Austin Commonwealth of 1041 Beckford street was chosen as secretary, and Arthur Alexander of 1909 Delaware avenue was named as vice president. The executive committee will consist of George Komara and Paul Cuda.

See Fine Organization

It is the purpose of the New Castle chapter to invite all accredited basketball officials in both Butler and Mercer counties to affiliate with them. No officials of either Butler or Mercer counties were present last night, possibly due to the icy highways and weather conditions.

The next meeting of the New Castle chapter of Basketball Officials will be held at 8 o'clock at Senior High school on Lincoln avenue on Wednesday evening, February 21, when it is hoped that the membership in the newly created chapter can be increased twofold. Present at the meeting last night were: Austin Commonwealth, Ray Nolte, Wesley Mann, George Komara, Paul Cuda and Art Alexander. Those reporting sickness and other reasons for not being present: Thomas C. "Tim" Hutchison of New Wilmington and Sam Richards.

Shenango Calls Off Game Friday

Due to the closing down of the Shenango high school due to the coal shortage, the scheduled basketball game for Friday night has been called off. It was announced today by Principal Glen W. Johnston and Coach Eddie Nahas.

No date for the playoff has been set as yet.

FAIR OR FOUL

(International News Service Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—If colleges and universities were less greedy for money and more interested in the students they would have nothing to worry about in the present scandal which finds five Brooklyn college basketball players charged with accepting bribes to throw a game in Boston.

In the first place, college basketball shouldn't be played at the big arenas devoted largely to professional sports. College basketball should be played on the college campus.

Secondly, anything that Brooklyn college might do certainly can't be construed as the criterion for schools elsewhere. Brooklyn college scarcely fits in with the accepted standard of what a college is supposed to be in that this one sits in the midst of the turmoil that is New York.

Back to Campus

The one answer to the present situation is to take basketball back to the campus as Fritz Crisler, athletic director at the University of Michigan, suggests.

The players can be more closely supervised and the tickets can be handled so that gamblers will find it difficult to maintain their interest in the individuals who are performing.

Brooklyn college has given a black eye to every athlete in the country. This obscure school in the Borough of New York that has been noted for its failure to conform has contributed the one great scandal in college basketball.

Would Have All College Sports Come Under Protection Of AAU In Future

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—(INS)—In the wake of the Brooklyn college bribe scandal, college basketball was warned today of another possible setback through the prevalence of players on intercollegiate teams doubling as professionals under assumed names.

Barney Ains, chairman of the Metropolitan AAU basketball committee, urged all schools in this district to get under the banner of the AAU, which is equipped to police the game, according to Ains.

"Officials who work in both the college and pro games have come to us with reports of players appearing both as amateurs and professionals. We could do a job of policing. If these college players were registered with us."

In AAU, Fold

Ains said a move has been started to get the collegians into the AAU, promising this as a step to "giving the game back to the colleges and taking it out of the hands of professional promoters."

Another development in the Brooklyn college scandal was revelation by Selective Service that four of the five players involved in accepting a bribe to throw a game were unfit for military service.

Bob Leder, captain and star of the squad, Bernard Barnett, and Larry Pearlstein were medically discharged. Jerry Green is 4-F. The fifth member, Stanley Simon, is 17 and hasn't been called.

MONTREAL, Feb. 1.—(INS)—Plans for the Canadian open golf tournament with such ranking United States stars as Sam Snead, Craig Wood and Byron Nelson, were announced Wednesday by the Beaconsfield golf club.

Pitt Grid Card For 1945 Tough

Hagan Announces 10-Game Schedule, Drop Army, Bethany, Fliers From Card

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 1.—(INS)—James Hagan, manager of athletics at the University of Pittsburgh, Wednesday announced a 10-game football schedule for the 1945 Panthers.

The grid card calls for eight home games and two away, he said. Four teams which did not appear on the Panthers' 1944 card will be opponents next fall, while Army, Chatham Field and Bethany are off the schedule.

Four New Teams

The four newcomers are Bucknell, Michigan State, Temple and Purdue. Four Big Ten conference colleges are listed for games. They are Illinois, Purdue, Ohio State and Indiana. Illinois and Purdue will be played away from home.

Meetings with West Virginia, September 29, and Notre Dame, October 13, and Penn State on November 24 complete the schedule for the Jumble Cats.

Shenango, Third Continue To Lead Indus-Church Loop

Both Shenango Pottery And Third U. P. Win Easily In Games Wednesday

Shenango Pottery and Third U. P. basketball teams continue to lead their respective leagues, Indus-Church, with no defeats, after another session at the "Y" last night in which the Pottery trounced the Reds 49 to 30, and the Third U. P. nudged the Croton Methodists 35 to 24.

In the other game on the evening's bill the scrappy Aluminum company team made it safer for the Shenango Pottery by downing the perennial foe, Johnson Bronze, 29 to 23 with "Shorty" Thornton, Byler, Jack Donagan and "Jap" Colvelli in starting roles for the Alcos, and Bullano and Gabby Kendra best for the Bronzes.

Coach Nickle Ross started his second team against the Reds and the boys who generally warm the bench played a fine game to run up 22 of the points. Spanelli was the star with 13 points.

Akron Quintet Heads For Home

BOSTON, Mass., Feb. 1.—(INS)—The Akron university basketball squad was on its way back to Ohio today after watching two service teams compete in a contest substituted for the scheduled Akron-Brooklyn college game last night.

The small attendance of 1,874 fans was blamed on the Brooklyn college bribe scandal that broke in New York Tuesday.

In the second game, St. Joseph's of Philadelphia upset the favored Syracuse team, 45-37.

Urges Colleges Curb Gambling

Asks That Basketball Teams Do Not Send Out Any Advance Information

CHICAGO, Feb. 1.—(INS)—Colleges and universities of the middle west already have been warned to take every possible measure to save intercollegiate basketball from an invasion of gamblers, Kenneth L. "Tug" Wilson, athletic director at Northwestern university, declared Wednesday.

His comment came as a result of the scandal which broke in the east wherein five Brooklyn college players were quoted as confessing they accepted $1,000 as the first installment of a $3,000 bribe to throw a game to Akron in the Boston Garden. The game was cancelled.

No Advance Dope

Wilson, who also is a director of the National Collegiate Athletic Association, said member schools had been instructed to give out no advance information on forthcoming games, such as the condition of the team of individual players, or any other information which might give a line in determining the odds on a game.

Wilson said these schools send plain clothes men among the spectators to watch for indications of gambling.

No Successor To Landis In Sight

CHICAGO, Feb. 1.—(INS)—Chicago's baseball officials expressed some doubt before their departure today for the Major league meetings in New York that a commissioner would be selected to succeed the late Kenesaw M. Landis.

The consensus was that the new agreement between the National and American leagues, possibly with few revisions, would be ratified at a joint meeting on Saturday and that this would be the chief item of business transacted.

Several members of the delegation acknowledged there was considerable sentiment for selection of a new commissioner now, but said those favoring immediate action appeared in the minority.

Sport Tidbits Along Big Stem

Pat Robinson INS Sports Writer Rambles Around New York Sport World

(International News Service Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—Along Broadway today we find... Dan Ferris... Mr. Track & Field himself... who says... Newest sensation in any game is Elmore Harris... former Morgan College runner... This bird was an unknown... until he won national collegiate 440 yard run and 220 low hurdles and national AAU 400 metres and 200 meter low hurdles last summer.

Harris himself calmly announces he not only will win the 600-yard run at the Millrose games Saturday night... but also will beat the world record for the route... 1:10.2... Despite the fact that he has yet to run his first race on an indoor track!

Barrow Is Good

Saddest man in our town is Ed Barrow... Ex-Yankee proxy... who's going on the shelf... after half a century in baseball. Biggest surprise of the week... Barrow's selection of Wild Bill Donovan... sometime Detroit pitcher... as the greatest he ever saw... and Ed insists he had more speed than Walter Johnson and more stuff than any pitcher the game ever knew...

Clem McCarthy... who was young a long time ago... disagrees violently with his old pal... Matt "Kentucky Derby" Winn... that Extremator was the greatest of all American horses... and offers figures to prove Man O'War, was tops.

"Firsthand, just after last war Extremator backing 112 beat Wild Bill toting 107 by a neck over the miles and a sixteenth... Man O'War carrying 138 beat Wild Bill packing 108 over the same route by two full lengths... With Man O'War's jockey looking back over his shoulder.

And Hobart college at Geneva, N. Y., has been polling its boys now in the armed services on its post-war sports program... with the following result... Football was first choice with 99 per cent... Lacrosse (A major sport at Hobart) second with 94... Basketball third with 90 and baseball fourth with 62 per cent.

The mugs in the fight racket are wearing sanctimonious looks... Since learning that five Brooklyn College basketball players took gambler's dough to throw a game... which reminds us that when an army captain... who once managed a heavyweight champion... was sentenced for rigging the government on contracts... One of the fight mob remarked piously... "He shouldn't have done it during war time..."

College authorities fear procreating drive for athletes... Getting out of army and navy... when war is over... Rush for good halfbacks will be tremendous and we may have the same old battle about the paid athlete all over again.

And Johnny Day relays the one about modesty losing a horse race... Seems Jockey Ray Nelson had a horse well up in a race when he heard a ripping sound... which was his pants tearing... and the embarrassed youngster pulled up his mount on the far turn and ran off the course...

FOR HEROIC achievement in action December 7, 1944, in the vicinity of Lemberg, France, Tom P. Carey, son of Mr. and Mrs. James T. Carey, 904 North Mercer street, has been given a citation and a Bronze medal, according to information which reached his parents today. Floyd R. Hammond, Meridale, N. Y., who accompanied Carey on the expedition also received a citation and Bronze medal. Carey was also promoted from platoon sergeant. Previous to entering military service Carey played guard on the New Castle high basketball team and captained the Slippery Rock Teachers' quintet. A copy of the citation follows:

"Thomas P. Carey, sergeant (then private first class), entered military service February 1943, from New Castle, Pa.

"For heroic achievement in action on December 7, 1944, in the vicinity of Lemberg, France. At a critical point in an attack on dug-in positions with all communications between their company and battalion severed, these two lieutenants volunteered without hesitation to repair the important wire line. Realizing the importance of their success to their unit and with utter disregard for close enemy observation and fire, Privates Carey and Floyd R. Hammond, Meridale, N. Y., courageously completed the difficult task in an outstanding manner, and by their efforts, supporting fire was returned and the possibility of their unit being isolated was removed."

Jimmy Kight, a pre-medical student, is the only non-minister on the Howard Payne College team this year... Eight of the nine members are ministers... Bill Henderson, who has been in the army, will soon take over coaching duties at Baylor... Joe Holland, Berea, Ky., is the leading scorer with the Iowa Seashaw cagers, having scored 177 points in 15 games... Lieut. Bob Elser, Marquette football team's right end, 1933-40, was killed in a P-38 army plane crash on the Mojave desert... Willie Pep, featherweight king, has held three titles but not simultaneously. He was Connecticut state amateur flyweight king in 1938 and the next year won the state bantamweight title.

Pete Carey, brother of Tom, and a marine in the South Pacific, recently met Regis O'Brien, also a marine. Hockey Boss Frowns Pirate Catcher Heads For Navy

On Gambling Trend

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 1.—(INS)—The name of the 31st Pittsburgh Pirate to serve in the armed forces during World War II was placed on baseball's national defense list today by Club President William E. Bensvanger.

The latest Buccaneer to join the colors was Leroy Gilbert Jarvis, 18, drafted by Pittsburgh last November from Montreal in the International league for $7,200. A right-hand hitter, the Oklahoma City boy, who has been taken into the navy, is considered an excellent catching prospect.

The Cardinals will play the Pirates in a House league game at the "Y" tonight at 7 o'clock, it was announced.

RAILS LEAD RALLY IN MARKET TODAY

Month Of February Opens With Vigorous Rally In Railroad Shares

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—(INS)—The stock market opened the month of February with a vigorous rally in the railroad shares. Trading was brisk in the opening hours but slackened later.

Initial gains of 1/2 to a full point were fairly well scattered through the carrier divisions as traders rushed in to take advantage of the prices set in yesterday's retreat.

Industrial shares were firm, with most of the play in the motors and steels. The former were so-so but the steel makers showed gains of as much as 3-4 point in Bethlehem. Communications were also active with Radio Corp. up a fraction on heavy turnover which included blocks as large as 5,000 shares.

Utilities were active and higher. Engineers Public Service got up about 1/2 and North American and Consolidated Edison lesser amounts.

English Stowaway

ELIZABETH DREWERY, a dancer from Derbyshire, England, was so anxious to get to Russia that she stowed away on a U. S. Liberator bomber and flew the Atlantic. Then, in order to get to Russia, she stowed away on a Russian ship, but was discovered and returned to Seattle where she will be given the choice of returning to Canada from where the ship sailed, or being arrested and deported. EDUCATIONAL TOYS

PITTSBURGH.—(INS)—Possibly because men always liked to play with electric trains, several steel companies have begun using working models of cranes and steel mill equipment to teach employees the fundamentals of safety. One steel company has a model crane which is equipped with every type of safety feature, including fire extinguishers, warning signs and safety guards. It is used in training classes so that new operators can learn how to handle loads with the fewest number of movements.

GIANT TRUCK

BOSTON.—(INS)—One of the largest non-combatant vehicles used by the Allied armies in the field is a seven and a half ton, six-wheel truck, according to Col. H. B. Sheets, commanding officer of the Boston Ordnance district. The "big fellow" is used to tow heavy artillery and to transport bulky cargo up to the front lines. This vehicle weighs 14 tons, is powered by a liquid-cooled six-cylinder motor of 156 horsepower, is operated by a crew of two, has a maximum speed 31 miles an hour, and cruising range of 400 miles.

Traffic Safety Drive Planned

Pennsylvania Looking Ahead To Return Of Era When Thousands Will Die From Motor Accidents

KIWANIS HEAR TALK WEDNESDAY

What Pennsylvania is doing towards prevention of traffic fatalities in the future was related by George Lowe of the division of public safety, Bureau of Motor Vehicles, Department of Revenue of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, when he addressed members of the New Castle Kiwanis club at their noon luncheon meeting.

Prior to the outbreak of the war, Pennsylvania was faced with a growing list of motor fatalities and serious accidents every year. Every one seemed to view the problem with alarm, but no one did anything about it, he stated.

In the year 1941 there were 40,000 persons killed in auto accidents over the country, while 1,600,000 were injured, many of them permanently. The nation is looking forward to an era when between 80,000 and 100,000 will be killed in this way every year, unless something is done to avert it.

Traffic safety must become personalized before it can become vitalized, Mr. Lowe stated. People will show courtesy in every other human relationship except on highways, and folks who would apologize over the least offense to their fellow man in any other relationship, become very discourteous when they are at the wheel of an auto.

Mr. Lowe advocated instruction in safe driving in the schools of the state, so that the school children may not only bring home the thought of safety to their parents, but will also be brought up to know safe driving methods when they themselves become drivers.

Guests from the service included Cpl. William St. Clair, home on convalescent furlough, after having sustained a serious foot injury when struck by fragments from an 88 mm shell soon after D-Day in France. He has been undergoing treatment at Fletcher hospital, Cambridge, O.

Another guest was Pvt. George Martin of Brooklyn, N. Y., stationed at Deshon annex, who was wounded in France while serving with the 96th division.

Accompanying Mr. Lowe, also of the Pennsylvania motor police, was Raymond Blythe of Wampum, who was a guest at the luncheon.

Hoyland Plans To Retire More Bonds

City Will Owe $419,000 At End Of Year, New Low Of Recent Years

Albert Hoyland, financial director for the city of New Castle, today reported that when 1945 expires the city will owe bonds worth $419,000, the lowest amount in years. He reported that $467,000 worth of bonds are now outstanding but that $68,000 worth would be retired this year, making the bond indebtedness of the city only $419,000. Since he went into office in 1942, he said the city has retired $361,000 worth of bonds.

Full Crew Bill Again Introduced

HARRISBURG, Feb. 1.—(INS)—The use of "full crews" on railroad freight trains was proposed in a bill introduced today in the house. The measure, co-sponsored by Reps. Harry T. Matthews (D) Fayette, and Russell E. Reese (D) Washington, would require freight crews to be composed of an engineer, fireman and three brakemen.

Under present laws, only two brakemen are required.

WALKS BOTH WAYS AT ONCE

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—(INS)—Henry A. Wallace, President Roosevelt's nominee for secretary of commerce, was criticized Wednesday by Congressman William B. Barry (D) New York, in a letter to his constituents.

Barry described Wallace as the "type of liberal who has both feet planted firmly in midair and is frequently walking in both directions at the same time."

Beware Coughs Following Flu

After the flu is over and gone, the cough that follows may develop into chronic bronchitis if neglected. Creomulsion relieves promptly because it goes right to the seat of the trouble, to loosen and expel germ laden phlegm, and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes. No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough or you are to have your money back.

Merits Of Cold Winter Good For Debate Any Time

Local Disease Rate Low This Year; Low Last Year, Also, Though Winter Was Mild

There seems to be a slight disagreement among newspapers in this district as to whether or not this winter's deep snows and low-down temperatures have a beneficial or a harmful effect on the general health of the district.

One newspaper finds that quarantine signs in its city are at a record low, while another claims that colds are more prevalent than ever. New Castle's quarantined diseases are also very few this year, but "so what" says Public Health Officer Dr. William A. Womer.

"They were few last year, too, and that was a mild, damp winter. Remember?"

According to Dr. Womer, the weather doesn't seem to have much to do with the general trend of disease.

"They seem to go in cycles," he comments. "Sometimes you'll have a year with lots of measles, whooping cough, colds, and polio although the weather is cold enough to make even the germs sick, and then will come a mild winter, supposedly the unhealthy kind, when even colds seem scarce."

The feeling of healthiness during cold weather probably comes from the invigorating weather, the fun of outdoor exercise, some doctors believe. And the invigoration is good for people, too, they add.

Parisians See Early Defeat Fate Of Hitler

Wave Of Restrained Optimism Sweeps Paris As Soviet Troops Keep Up Advance

PARIS, Feb. 1.—(INS)—A new wave of restrained optimism swept Paris, keeping pace with the Soviet armies' advance on Berlin.

In many quarters there was a growing belief that Germany is nearing the brink of defeat and the next 10 days will determine whether the Nazi armies in the east will be able to rally sufficiently to avert for a few more months the enemy's final plunge into the abyss of complete disaster.

A good deal of speculation also is arising as to just what will happen when the Russians reach Berlin. There is an increased tendency to believe that if Hitler becomes convinced Germany is going to be defeated he would prefer to see the Russians occupy the Reich.

Hitler's demented hatred of the western allies is even greater than that for Soviet Russia, these sources believe; therefore, as a last defiant gesture he might well prefer to deny the Americans and British an opportunity of participating in an occupational conquest of a large part of the Reich.

The big question of the moment to Parisians is whether the old guard military leaders, including such men as Field Marshal Karl von Rundstedt, share any such attitude. If not, it is conceivable they may prefer to have the Americans and British occupy western Germany before the Russians get there.

OHIO PREPARES FOR QUICK THAW

COLUMBUS, Feb. 1.—Gov. Frank J. Lausche and Highway Director Perry T. Ford believe Ohio should be ready to meet any emergency that might arise should a quick thaw or rain suddenly sweep into a flood the ice and snow now covering the state.

Accordingly Governor Lausche said he had called a meeting, likely to be held next week, of the heads of civilian defense, health, highways and public works department, the adjutant general and chiefs of local flood committees.

Ford said he will consult with county and city engineers to determine to what extent they could pool their equipment and manpower and extend their use to clear snow-blocked highways.

Ford also said he had set up a program to improve his department's highway and weather reports which he asserted he had found were not accurate and dependable.

Reports on highway conditions will be obtained hereafter from bus stations and motor freight terminals from industrial plants and their employees using automobiles, and from 29,000 auxiliary state highway patrolmen through county highway superintendents.

OFFERS PLAN FOR HOSPITAL GROUP

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—(INS)—General Thomas Parran submitted to congress postwar health plans calling for a nationwide network of hospitals designed to make the latest developments of medical science available to all.

Progress in caring for the nation's health has not kept pace with needs and scientific advances, Parran said in his annual report, and poor distribution of hospitals is a central factor in maldistribution of doctors and medical care.

President's Dog Given Treatment

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—(INS)—Fala, President Roosevelt's pet Scotty, has undergone treatment at Walter Reed hospital's veterinarian department, it was learned today, and is now recovering nicely from what was described as "very delicate injuries."

The circumstances under which the presidential pooch fell upon evil days is not disclosed either by army officials who admit he was treated at the veterans hospital, or by the White House, which admits nothing. But Fala's canine acquaintances are extremely limited and all circumstances point to his recent bride as having inflicted the painful injuries—probably as the culmination of a lovers' quarrel. Army officials insist that the dog was given no more preferential treatment than would be accorded to any other government officials' pet under the same circumstances.

COAL, COAL EVERYWHERE
NANTICOKE, Pa., Feb. 1.—(INS)—Although the Pulaski school is surrounded by anthracite mines at Nanticoke, 350 pupils were unable to attend class, when the building's coal supply was exhausted.

Planes Used To Drop Corn To Wild Turkeys

DuBOIS, Pa., Feb. 1.—Hundreds of pounds of shelled corn dropped by low-flying airplanes in the mountains of central Pennsylvania were doing much today to prevent starvation of wild turkeys.

George Eck, president of the Gateway Sportsmen's association, said the hedge-hopping pilots have completed more than 20 missions in the feeding project.

More than a month of intermittent snow had sealed off the natural food, Eck said, when his fellow sportsmen hit upon the idea of soliciting the aid of the DuBois civil air patrol.

Seven large flocks of turkeys have been saved, he said.
